HIGHLIGHTS . . .

Many different events highlighted the school year. Each activity gave a variety of ALLEN PEOPLE the opportunity to express their individuality and to display the uniqueness of our high school.

The graduating class of 1982 commemorates the retirement of Mr. Henry Wright, a man who has dedicated forty years of faithful service to the Allentown School District.

Students at Allen, through assorted clubs and organizations, are given the opportunity to express their individuality as well as experience situations outside the classroom. These extra-curricular activities are means by which students can better associate with those around them, and find ways to deal with everyday pressures.

We at Allen believe that variety is the spice of life, and involvement the key to success.

SPORTS . . . page 94

Allen fans are captivated by the exceptional display of talent possessed by the Allen athletes. The Allen sports program, including Intramural, Varsity, and J.V. sports, invites the participants to experience the feeling of camaraderie among teammates.

Seniors, the leaders of the future, will be diversified into various occupations from the Sorcerer to the Clown, but we will always be the Everlasting Class of 1982.

Seniors, the leaders of the future, will be diversified into various occupations from the Sorcerer to the Clown, but we will always be the Everlasting Class of 1982.

Developing everlasting friendships were significant and important parts of high school life. Senior friendships truly do last forever in many different aspects. Upper Left and Middle: Debra Dursi and Helene McGee, as true friends would, conducted a lengthy phone conversation. Upper Right: Mike Saylor, Bruce Lindenberg, Merritt Jacob, Mike Maquera, and Shaun Lindenmuth paused from a discussion between classes. Lower Left: Everlasting classes was the impression these students expressed. Right: Senior friends smiled for a picture. Learning is a continuous process. Even experienced teachers, like Dr. Clewell, explore new areas of development everyday in order to transfer to their students the most recent and helpful discoveries in that specific field of study.

Top left: Because of the addition of freshmen to Allen, the first day of school was a major event. As newspaper and television reporters visited the school, Dr. McHugh proudly represented Allen as usual. Top right: Mrs. Walbert is in the process of instructing a swimming class. Bottom: Mr. Boyer's and Mrs. Glazier's pleasant expressions show their enjoyment of their teaching professions at Allen.

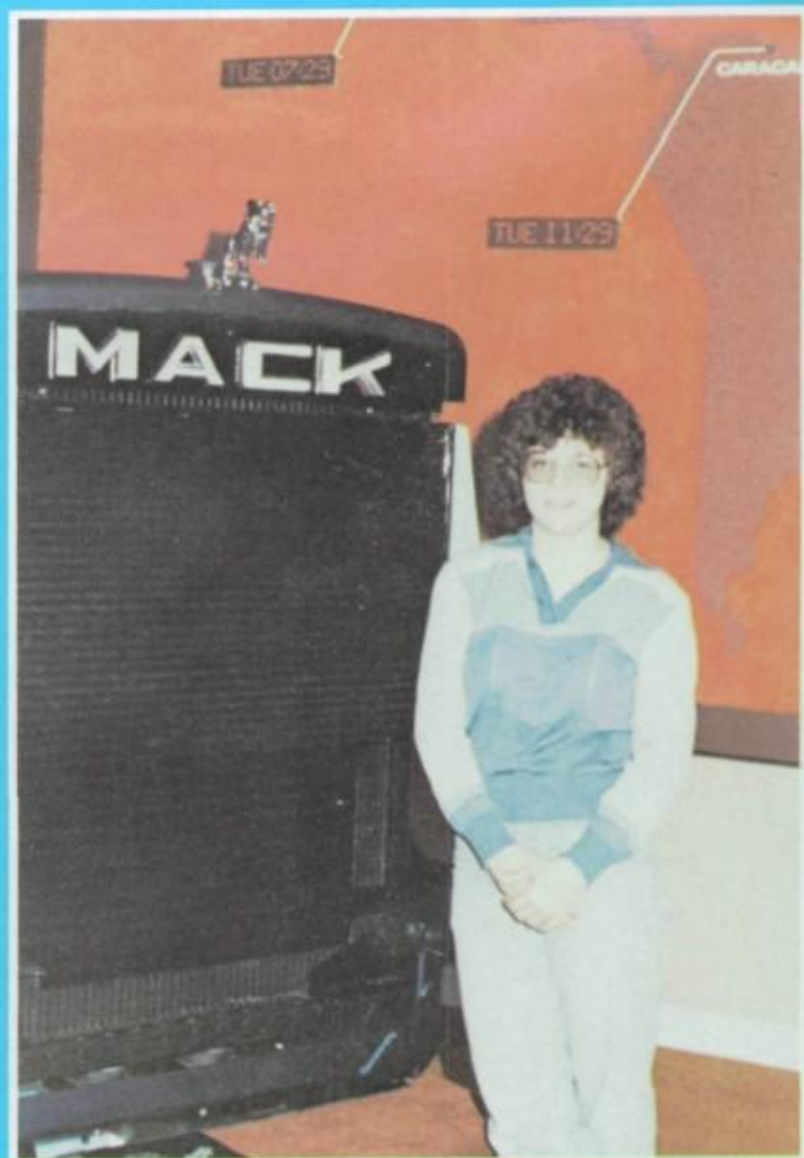

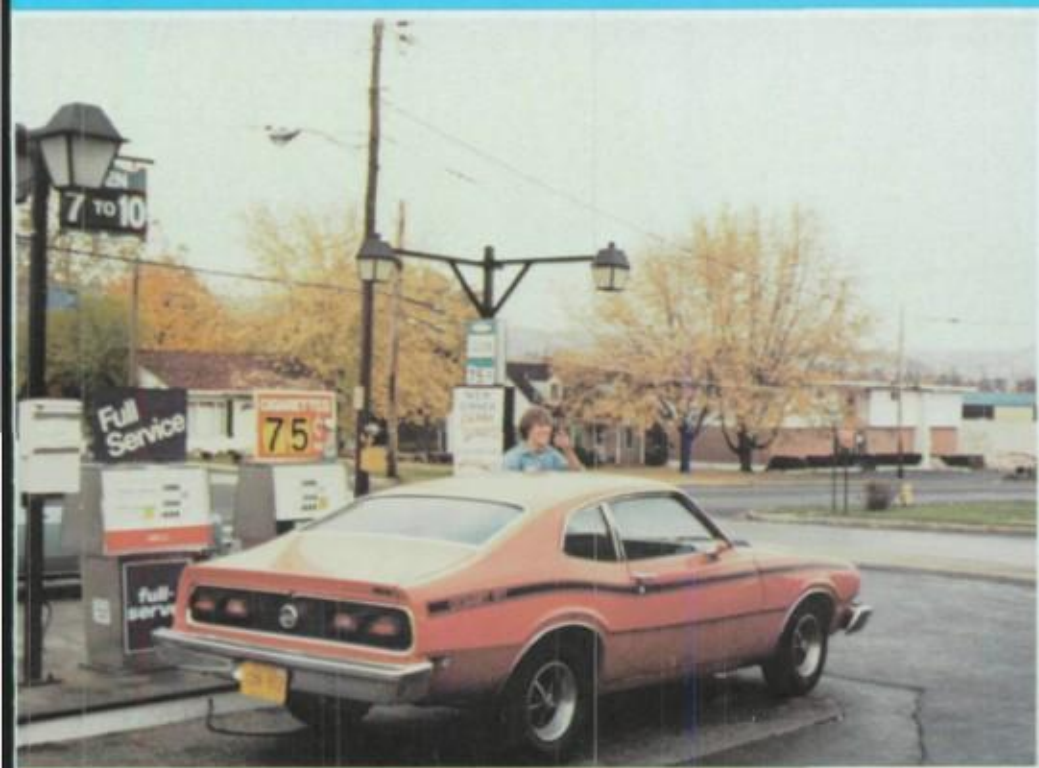

A group of six young people, three men and three women, are posing in a modern interior space. They are arranged in two rows, with three people standing in the back and three sitting in the front. The background features a large, teardrop-shaped pendant light hanging from the ceiling, and the walls are a mix of purple and red. The overall atmosphere is contemporary and stylish.

The new Hotel Hilton is the biggest attraction in Allentown this year. The opening was well publicized, Sophia Loren made a guest appearance to help promote the opening. Publicity has proved valid upon seeing the interior of the Hilton. Beautiful and modern furnishings adorn the lobby along with the unique sculptures and magnificent pieces of art. The indoor pool is something to behold with its mirrors and exotic plants. The bar is found to be most impressive because of its unique design. Over all, a visit to the Hilton is like a visit to a modern day palace.

HIGHLIGHTS

Some of the Fascinating differences in the students of Allen High are that they are interested in a variety of activities and hobbies. Some prefer the excitement and competitiveness of sports, others prefer the challenge of the mind, and still others prefer the adventure of the outdoors.

Vo-Tech Develops Skills

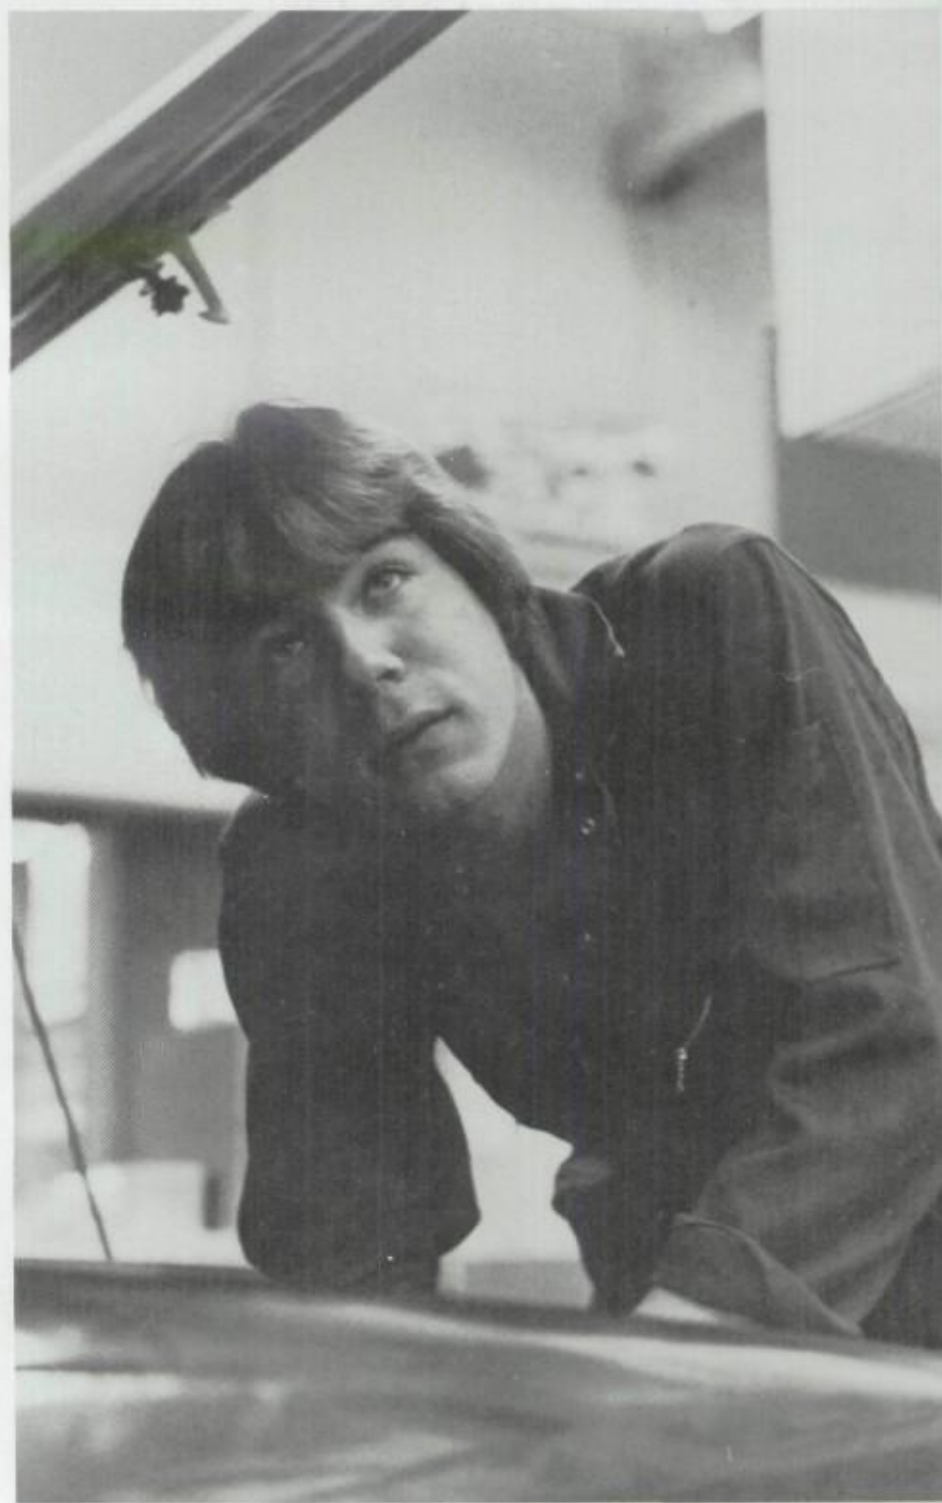

One of the numerous opportunities Allen offers its students is a program which allows them to acquire on-the-job training. Students who choose to take advantage of this opportunity spend half of the day at Allen and the other half at the Lehigh County Vocational Technical School. Besides providing the students with an opportunity to develop skills needed for future career goals, this program enables the students to broaden their minds by spending a short period of time in each of the eight specialty shop areas during their first year. In grades eleven and twelve the students specialize in a field of their choice.

Many Vo-Tech students spend their time between classes socializing. Pictured here are: Karen DePietro, Wanda Hontz, Eric DeFrain, Lisa Santos, Mark Bomberger, and Dave Roa.

Renilda Rosa spends her day learning the latest in fashion design.

Making sure that everything is in good working condition, Eric Becker checks under the hood.

Students Excel In Understanding Of U.S. Government

Each year a selected number of Allen students participate along with students from all over the world in the Annual Presidential Classroom.

Two students at a time travel to Washington, D.C. where they are treated to first class service. After arriving in Washington and being met by a limousine students are taken to their hotel, which has a whole wing reserved for the two hundred participants.

Although students travel to Washington with a classmate, as soon as they arrive there they are separated. Roommates are assigned before the program and no school rooms together.

At breakfast each day students receive a schedule of the day's events which may involve touring any number of government buildings and monuments, participating in seminars or learning the secrets of our governmental system. The tours may include the Washington Monument, the White House, the Pentagon, or the Capitol.

At the seminars quite a few of the U.S. Representatives speak and the students realize the importance of a good government.

One of the best aspects of this program is that the students feel it is an insight to the workings of the U.S. Government.

Pep Rally Climaxes Spirit Week

Ed Hanna, the wizard, arouses the crowd before the big game.

On Thursday the 12th of November, students gathered in the ASD training field, huddled around the bonfire, and got psyched up for the highlight of the week: the rival football game with Dieruff. The band entertained the Allen students both at the bonfire and in the decorated halls of Allen High School. The final gathering of the students occurred on Friday afternoon in the Physical Education Center. Eddie Hanna added spark to the introduction of the events of the pep rally. The Big Mouth contest and the Homecoming were among the events scheduled to boost the spirits of the Allen team and the student body.

Dr. McHugh tells Santa Claus what he hopes to receive for Christmas this year.

The holiday season is always a special time at Allen. Individuals express their feelings of warmth and involve themselves in helping the less fortunate.

Dr. McHugh expressed his enthusiasm and spirit of the holiday by entertaining a special guest, Santa Claus, who paid a surprise visit. While in another section of the school, Miss Capkovic and her Spanish classes celebrated the holiday in a different fashion. The pinata is used in Hispanic culture as a means of celebrating all holidays.

When many students were expected to be in class studying particular subjects, Mrs. Thomas's cooking class took a break to taste the many holiday delicacies prepared by the students. The students who prepared these Christmas goodies, looked forward to tasting the many different types of cakes and pastries.

The little things in life become extra special when the students at Allen express their feelings and ideas during the holiday season.

Miss Capkovic expresses one way of celebrating Christmas in a different country.

Michelle Willever and Steve Olson anticipate tasting the Christmas delicacies.

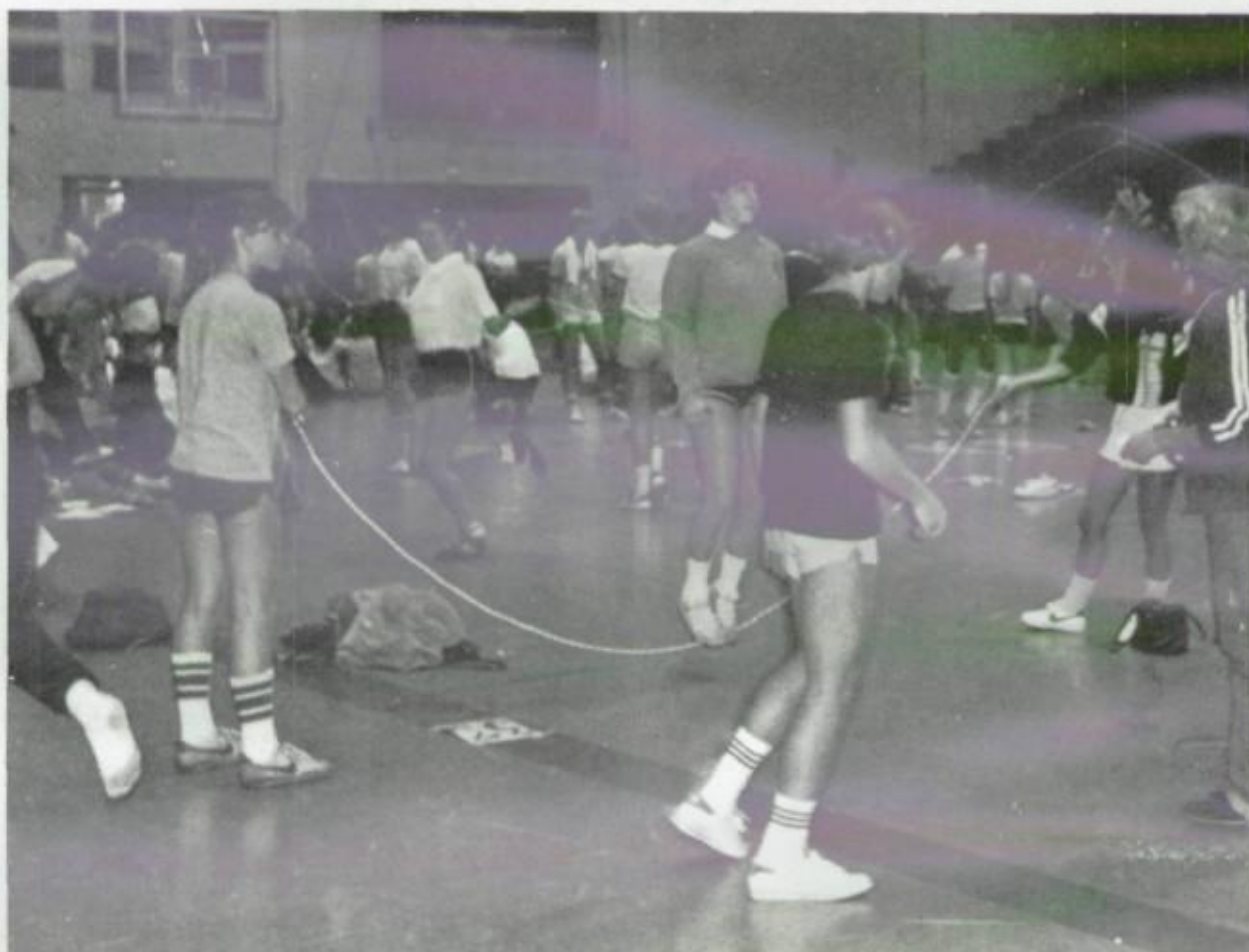

Jump Rope-a-thon Bouncers Jump For Heart Association

Sponsored by the American Heart Association, 270 eager participants joined in Allen's second jump rope-a-thon, held November 20 in the physical education center.

Beginning at 9:00 a.m., one participant of the six member group jumped for five minutes, then handed the rope to another teammate until each person jumped one time. The process then began again, continuing until 12:00 p.m.

The Girls' Leaders club supervised the groups with the help of Miss Ann Wenninger. The rope-a-thon successfully raised a total of $5,680 in sponsor money.

Although freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors alike joined in the jumping, the majority of participants consisted of freshmen. However, the skipping spirit embodied more than just students. One team was also made up of faculty members, proving they also had the spirit and the energy to make it.

Many students are excused from classes for participating in a morning of jumping.

Mr. Buxton Retires After 36 Years Of Service

Mr. Buxton is a much respected teacher at William Allen. He was the head of the math department for fifteen years.

Mr. Buxton was a teacher for thirty-six years and during that time he was a substitute teacher for a half year. He taught two years at the Veteran's High School, one and a half years at Central Junior High, and thirty-two years at William Allen.

Mr. Buxton's future plans after retiring include traveling and gardening. He is eagerly looking forward to retiring and comments that his wife will keep him busy around the house.

Exchange Students Explore Mysteries of U.S. Life

Marina Davidi says, "Life in Israel is basically tough." She likes it here in the United States, and will probably stay because most of her family lives here. She finds America exciting and is glad to be here. Marina likes how people have treated her and make her feel at home.

Thomas Barnes is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Olson and enjoys staying there very much. He spends his time going to swimming practice and competes with the Allen High swim team. He enjoys the atmosphere at Allen but claims that in Swedish schools one has more freedom.

Meenaskshi Thadani is from India; she will be graduating from Allen in June and is very excited about it. She can't understand why boys and girls don't intermingle more, or why they sit unisex in the cafeteria. When asked about education in India she admits that it is quite a bit harder; she likes the freedom she has here of choosing her own subjects.

Gabriela Orozco is one of many exchange students at Allen and is residing with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bruni. She is from Mexico and states, "I am glad I have the opportunity to visit the United States." One thing she likes about Allen is the students because they are so friendly and make her feel welcome. Gabriela also loves to read and dance and is interested in learning how to make pottery.

Birgitta Jason is from Stockholm, Sweden and she enjoys America very much. She likes the freedom of choosing her own subjects. She also enjoys singing and is a member of the Allen Glee club. Birgitta spends her spare time in the gym body building; this is popular in Sweden.

Elmar Schuster is an eleventh grader from Germany who likes all kinds of American food. His favorite is pizza, but he finds the pizza in Germany much better. Elmar enjoys sports but thinks football and baseball are confusing especially when watched on T.V. because there are too many commercials. He enjoys being at Allen and has met many new friends. He is especially glad that he had this opportunity to come to the United States.

Einar Hansson feels that his chance to visit and live in the U.S. is a once-in-a-lifetime experience. One thing he doesn't like about the U.S. is all the commercials on television. Einar is a member of the Cross Country team at Allen; however, his favorite sport is skiing. When he returns to Sweden he hopes to study chemistry.

What Doreen Kantar likes most about the U.S. is the people. She states, "They are friendly and easy to talk to." Doreen is staying with the Diamond Family. They have helped her immensely with adapting to the American way of life. Doreen misses her friends greatly but has made up for this by making new friends. Traveling is Doreen's main interest. Doreen is also very much interested in drama and theater.

Chimasa Fukishma is here from Tokyo, Japan. He enjoys everything about school except when it comes to studying. He was very excited about coming to the United States and thinks it is a beautiful place, but he is also excited about seeing his family and friends again. Chimasa also enjoys photography.

Powder Puffers Take On Tough Eastside Opponents

Karen Dressel makes a commendable effort to keep possession of the ball.

Saturday, October 31 at 2:00 PM the Allen girls faced the Dieruff girls in a powder-puff football game. The powder-puffs played a rough, two hour game which ended in a 16-6 Dieruff triumph. The male cheerleaders supported their team with exhibitions of grace and agility. Eddie Hanna was voted the cutest male cheerleader. All proceeds from the game were donated to the United Way. Special congratulations are extended to Donna D'Amore who was voted the Most Valuable Player. Other thanks for a job well done go to the offensive coaches Tony DeFiore, Kevin Downing, Tony Lanzone, and Mike Maquera, and defensive coaches Tim Maron and Kenny Stephens and adviser Mr. Rourke.

Kelly Adams hustles while an opponent closely tracks her.

The adorable cheerleaders boost the team's spirit.

Karen Dressel's facial expression shows her determination to win.

Kevin Downing instructs offensive team players.

Tony DeFiore signals the girls to keep going.

Hail! Hail! The gang's all here!

Brenda Bear listens intently while Coach DeFiore explains game plans.

Ed Hanna at his best.

An Era Of Allen Athletics Ends

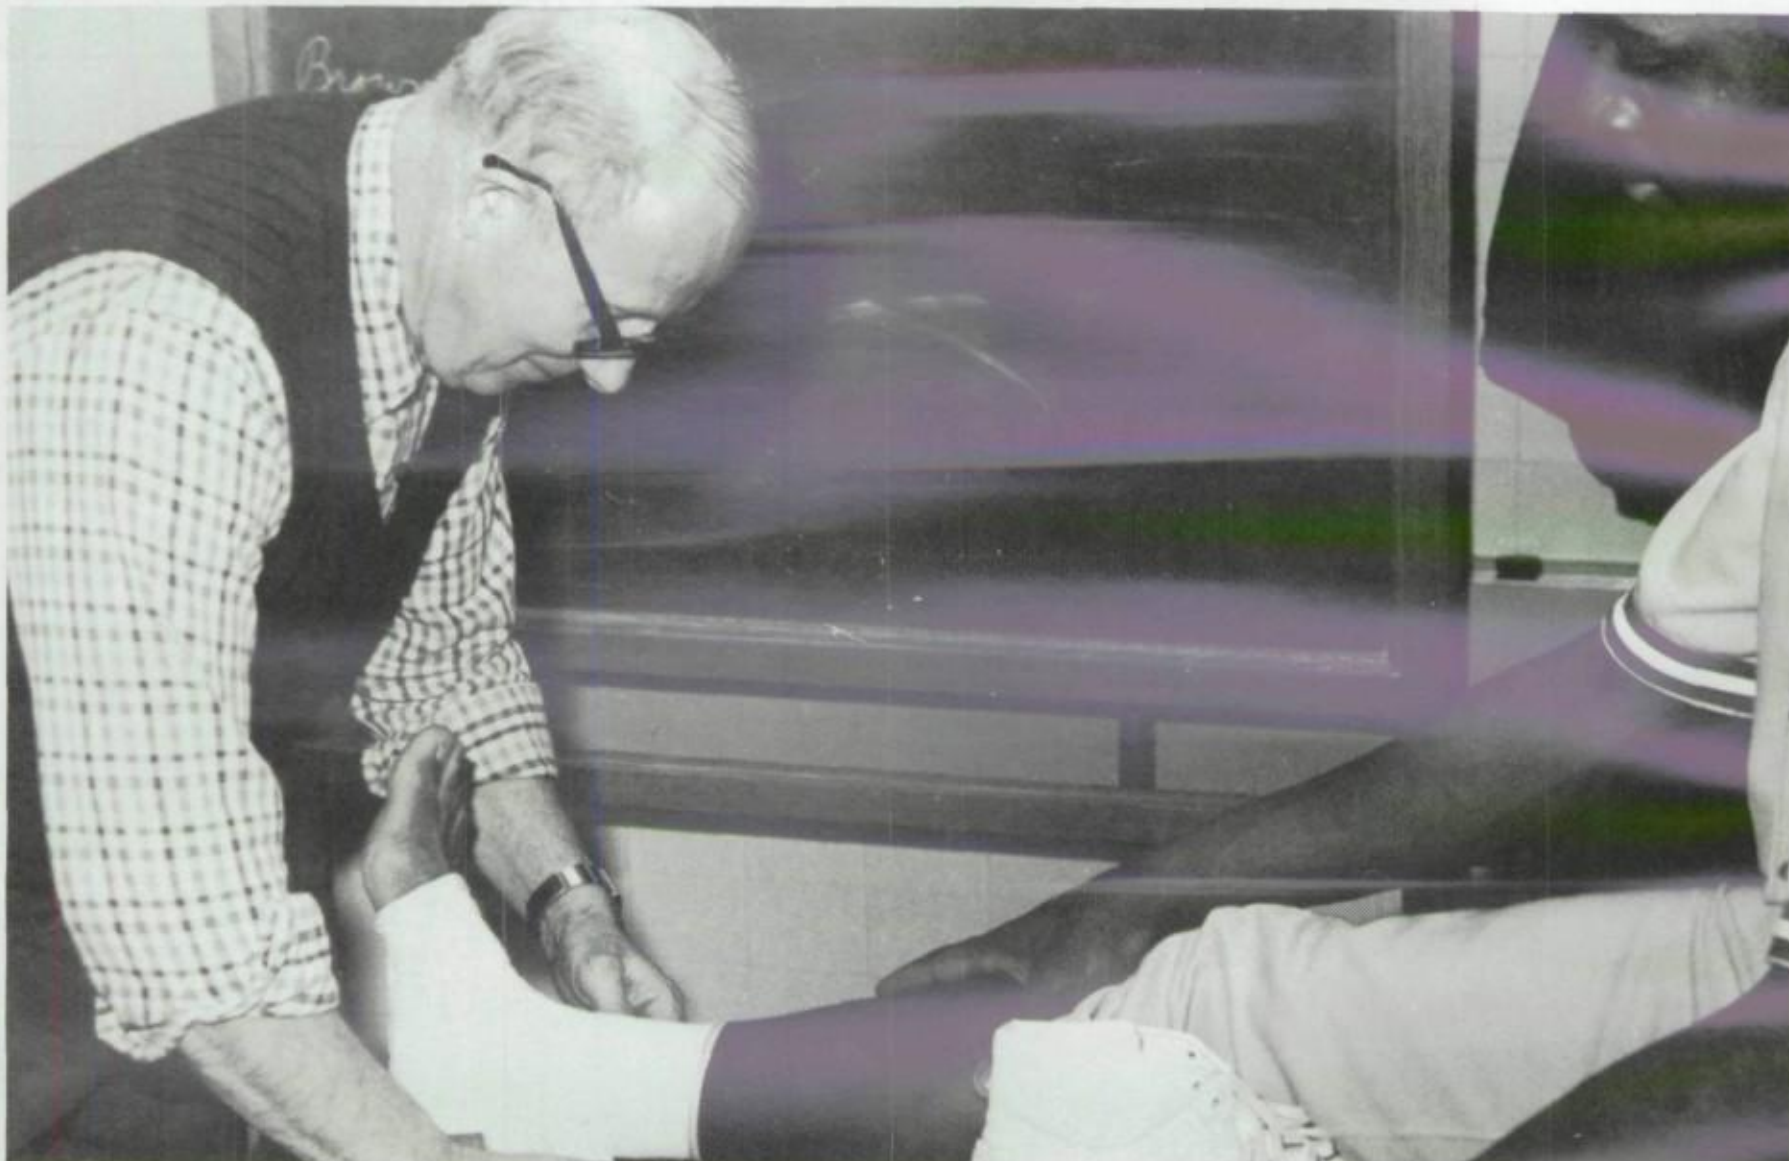

JOSEPH MILO SEWARDS

We, the Comus staff of 1982, dedicate this sixty-second volume of our yearbook to the one man who most embodies the spirit of Allen High School. For the past forty-two years Allen High School has been symbolized in one man's name, "Milo". J. Milo Swards has given to his Alma Mater and his community the greatest gift any human could bestow — he has dedicated his total life to this school. His special gifts as an educator, as a coach, and as a friend, have made him the most endeared member of the Allentown educational community. No words can describe the impact he has made on the countless thousands who have been blessed by contact with "Mr. Milo". He is truly the "patron saint" of this school and community.

Thank you somehow seems to fall short of conveying the expression of love we wish to extend to our beloved educator. As Mr. Joseph Milo Swards retires an era of Allen High School history comes to a glorious end. We wish him every good thing that life can bring. He has been, is now, and always will be the epitome of Allen High School's excellence.

As Two Alumni Retire

HENRY CALVIN WRIGHT

We, the Comus staff, proudly salute Mr. Henry Wright, our athletic trainer and friend, for his forty years of service to Allen High School. "Henry" has always been our concerned parent away from home. He tends to our needs both physically and mentally and shares with us our most intimate joys and sorrows. As athletic trainer and equipment manager to all athletes, Mr. Wright has made many outstanding contributions to "The Allen Family" that will be remembered for years to come.

We sincerely thank him for his dedication and services beyond the call of duty and we wish him well in all future endeavors.

Several senior athletes were asked: "In your years of participation in athletics at Allen, how has Henry Wright affected you?"

Julie Molrine:

"He is always helpful; he washes uniforms, and comes to all the games. He's a fan."

Robbie Reitenauer:

"He helps anyone who's injured. He tries to boost your spirit when you're down. He puts ice on anything that hurts."

Kevin Brantley:

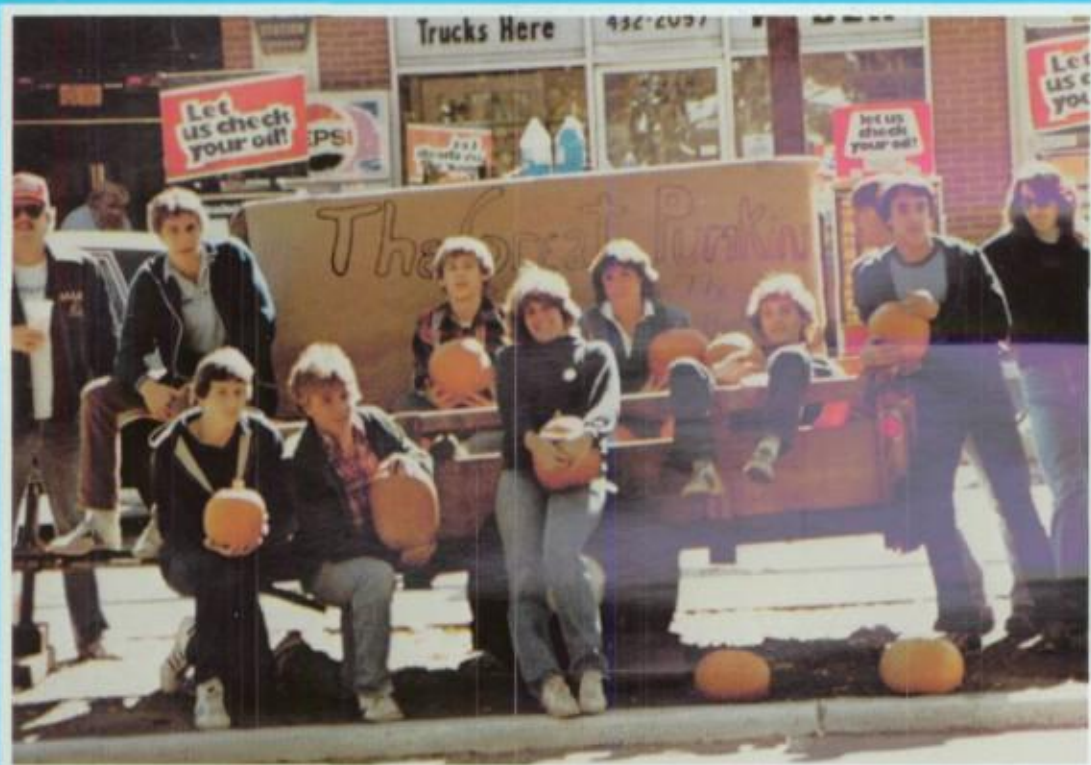

"He helped me with injuries. He's like a father to athletics. He helps when you're feeling sad; he boosts your spirits."

STUDENT LIFE

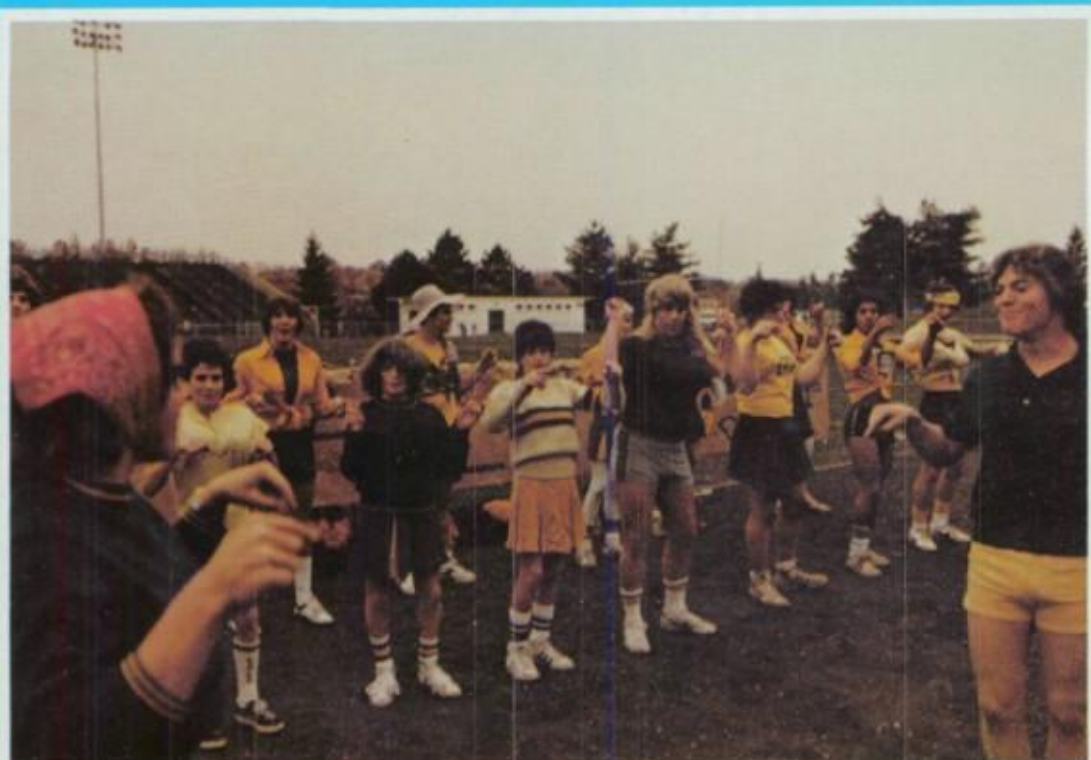

Throughout the years, William Allen has been known for the STIMULATING activities provided by its clubs. The success of the organizations is due to the enthusiastic people that make Allen High School enjoyable. From the award-winning Key Club, to the top-rated Band, clubs at Allen High never settle for second best. The Student Life section exemplifies our successful performance.

Canary

Constantly in production, the Canary staff works industriously in order to produce one issue per month. However, the staff does not assume sole responsibility in the production process. In the same respect, the production method does not exist only at school.

The SNAP organization (Student Newspaper Advisory Program), functioning through the Morning Call, aids the staff in numerous ways. One production day each month is allotted to the staff and the sequence of production must be completed in the course of the day through SNAP.

Students qualified to operate the computers and lay out individual pages are responsible for completing the issue with the help of SNAP advisers.

Through SNAP, the staff is given the opportunity to function as a professional publication, operating in an area out of school.

Karen Sharp buries her head in her work as she proofreads finished copies.

Computer typist Joe Both finishes his work on the teleram and packs the computer at the end of production.

Beginning a busy day in SNAP, Scott Severt prepares the teleram computers to type articles into the system, as production begins.

Editor-in-Chief Anne Bluth sets articles and headlines in type-setting codes on the teleram.

Debbie Dursi utilizes graphic tools, such as the x-acto knife, as she prepares finished copy for the page layout.

Taking a break from proofreading copy, Sue Denny glances up to see what's happening in other phases of production.

"Decisions, decisions," as Paul Huffman absences the various types of borders and graphic designs used to eliminate white space.

Comus Staff Strives

The 1981-82 COMUS staff was composed of STIMULATING and FASCINATING PEOPLE. MOTIVATED by EDUCATING advisers Jackie Mory and Lester Kish, the staff worked diligently to record EVERLASTING memories. Dedicated students contributed much time and effort to again make our award-winning yearbook a CAPTIVATING remembrance of which Allen students can be proud.

Leaders Provide Services

The Leaders' Club, under the supervision of Mrs. Kathleen O'Donnell, is comprised of specially selected junior and senior girls who qualified by meeting the club's academic and athletic requirements. Collecting for charities and donating goods to the underprivileged are among the various services provided by this organization. Some of the club activities for the year included participating in a Halloween activity with children in a nearby hospital, donating canned foods to needy families on Thanksgiving, sponsoring an Easter Egg hunt for selected elementary schoolers, and assisting in school functions such as The American Heart Association Jump-Rope-A-Thon. The club officers for the 1981-82 school year were: Joan Leach, President; Donna D'Amore, Vice-President; Julie Molrine, Secretary; and Patti Kurtz, Treasurer.

Runners Strive for Excellence

Mr. Kelley gives some helpful hints to the runners.

The Runners' Club, under the direction of Mr. Kelley, met three days a week to help the novice runner establish various running and training techniques.

At every meeting, members did twenty minutes of pre-planned stretching and other exercises; they then did from forty minutes to an hour's worth of running. Two days a week, the members of the club did various weight training exercises.

Throughout the year, the club sponsored a variety of speakers who talked about everything from running shoes to selecting a podiatrist.

Starting in January and continuing through February, the club also participated in an indoor track program which gave members the opportunity to use, to the best of their ability, the knowledge they gained through this club.

The officers of the Runners' Club were John Toso, president; Lori Mahr, vice-president; Kay Peacock, secretary; and Fran Weber, the treasurer.

Society Members Become Tutors

The National Honor Society is an organization that recognizes the many special academic and leadership abilities of Allen High School students. The club's members involve themselves in service to others as they tutor those students who are experiencing difficulties with some of their subjects. Through tutoring, members sharpen their communication skills and learn about working with other people.

Throughout the year, the Honor Society also sponsors a dance and various other activities. Every year the society awards scholarships to two of its outstanding members.

Dr. Egolf, who is the chairman of the English Department, is the adviser of this very fine organization. Its officers are President William Hansell, Vice-President Peter Potrebic, Secretary Sally Munro, Treasurer Kristin Whitner, and Sergeant-at-arms Michael Schiavone.

When asked about the role of the Honor Society in the school, Bill Hansell spoke of adding more activities to the club's format so as to provide social breaks for the tutoring members.

Jane Abrentes, Lisa Kulowitch, Mari Rourke, Mike Angstadt, and Robbie Stephens anxiously await customers.

The school store was run by a group of students who worked before, during, and after school and also during their study halls. By working in the school store, the students learned how to handle money and also received a taste of the business world. The students were under the supervision of Mr. Rourke and he offered much help to them. The students worked hard to sell the items in the school. In the school store one can now find a variety of items including yearbooks dating from 1920.

Students Work Behind Scenes

Nancy Laudenslager and Kevin DePietro control lights at a school assembly.

The Allen T.V. and Stage Crew is a service organization which provided stagecraft and T.V. services to the school and to many organizations related to the school. This group of students diligently worked backstage to insure that all assemblies ran smoothly.

Credit goes to the group of people who spent many hours behind the scenes to coordinate the lights and sound and also prepare the equipment. Part of the stage crew consisted of the T.V. crew. These young people were responsible for taping of swimming and gymnastics meets as well as other programs in the gymnasium. These tapes proved very helpful in aiding the competitors for they could see their mistakes and improve themselves. Also, teachers could request the crew to film their classes. The T.V. and stage crew certainly is a big asset to our school.

The T.V. Crew members videotaped sporting events and many special programs including commencement. Under the leadership of Mr. O'Donnell, the club also assisted teachers by setting up T.V. equipment for classroom presentations.

Matthew Bainbridge, Harold Walters, Justine Krobath and Darren Gawlik practice lighting for assemblies.

Joseph Starner, Todd Kelby, Kristi Langslet, John Dini, Prakash Sajnani, Robert Tews and Kevin Harwick prepare for proper lighting on stage.

Art Students

The Art Department directed after-school activities in three areas: pottery, figure drawing and weaving. In addition, on Tuesday and Thursday mornings a poster design group met. The art activities are open to any interested students. Along with their regular class periods, the students devoted much of their spare time to these activities. The works are displayed at the First National Bank of Allentown at the end of the year. One can truly see the skill and effort put into these works.

Majorettes Display Winning Qualities

Under the supervision of Mr. Francis Moran, the 1981-82 majorette squad consisted of twenty girls. These girls put many hours of hard work into their outstanding routines. Every girl on the squad attended a training camp which took place in August. Their performances with the band included football and basketball games, where they performed their half-time shows. They also participated in parades, band competitions, and Super Sunday festivities.

Captain Alisa Kroninger, and squad leaders Lisa Sedora, April Brader, Theresa Cannariato, and Lori Robinson brought to the squad their twirling excellence and leadership which helped to make the squad a success.

David Kmetz

Charles Wilson

Scholastic Scrimmage is an academic competition involving area high school students. Teams of four players from high schools all over the Lehigh Valley compete by a process of elimination for the Championship.

Students who are competitors must be able to quickly recall factual information taken from high school curriculum. After responding to a question, competitors have a limited amount of time in which to think about answers. Points are awarded for each correct answer.

Competitions are televised weekly on WLVT TV,

Channel 39, Bethlehem, on Thursday nights and again on Sundays. The shows are pre-recorded in front of a live audience during school hours. Competing students are briefed by the station staff on playing procedure before the show.

Allen's team is selected by auditions and consists of four playing members and alternates. Under the direction of their coach, Mr. A. David Deery, the team members practice a few times a week after school by answering questions similar to those asked in actual competition.

ACY Works For Students

The Allentown Council of Youth is comprised of two junior and two senior representatives each from Allen, Dieruff, and Central Catholic. The purpose of the Council is to give students opportunities to become involved in school-related and social activities. During the school year the ACY conducted several Youth Speaks Workshops, exchanges between the three high schools, and trips to see plays at the J. I. Rodale Theater. The Council also sponsors three Parkway Concerts during the summer months. Allen's representatives for the 1981-82 school year were seniors Susan Wilson and Donald Petz, and juniors Jeanne Hansell and Lee Deifer. Sue Wilson and Don Petz occupied two of the Council's four offices, Chairman and Treasurer, respectively.

Besides being able to compete in various open meets, the club is hosting and competing in the City-Wide Powerlifting Meet on June 6.

The Allen Ski Club, over the past few years, has become one of the largest and most popular clubs at Allen. The club, headed by adviser Robert Fisher, plans a variety of activities for its members who are experienced skiers as well as beginners. They can take advantage of all the scheduled trips. Most of the trips are reasonably priced and include special deals for beginners who do not own their own skis.

This year the club traveled to Camelback, Big Boulder, Vernon Valley, Great Gorge, and to Mount Snow, Vermont, for a two-day excursion.

On January 7, 1982, forty-five members of the Allen Ski club, along with chaperones, embarked on a journey to Mount Snow, Vermont, for a period of two days. The bus left Allen promptly at 4:15 p.m. on Friday, and after six long hours, the weary skiers arrived at their hotel, which was about ten minutes away from the slopes. Later that evening they unpacked, and after a good night's sleep the skiers were eager to begin.

The Mount Snow area appeared very impressive from the bus and was even more appealing when on the slopes. The mountain gave the skiers a wide variety of choices. Fifty-one trails and fourteen lifts provided a challenge for beginners as well as experts. Although the temperatures were very cold and the conditions a little icy, the experience of skiing at one of the most challenging ski areas in the country is one that will be remembered by everyone.

Several ASTRA members, including Lisa Hinkle, Ann Zellner, and Shellie Uhl, join children in singing Christmas carols.

ASTRA (Ability - Service - Training - Responsibility - Achievement), sponsored by its sister club Altrusa, represents an organization dedicated to serving community needs. Since 1969 members have devoted themselves to such projects as visiting youngsters in day care centers, assisting those who reside in nursing homes with various chores and helping in fund-raising events for cancer.

The group's favorite activities appear to be the trips in which children at day care centers are visited by ASTRA members at Christmas time.

Supervised by Mrs. Jackie Mory, ASTRA's 1981-82 officers include president Debbie Dursi, vice-president Karen Sharp, treasurer Sue Denny and secretary Carol Sargent.

Club Prepares Farmers

The Future Farmers of America club is composed of students who are enrolled in Vocational Agriculture. The areas of Vocational Agriculture include: Agricultural production, floriculture, horticulture and landscaping. The agriculture class cares for all the animals owned by the Future Farmers of America. Floriculture maintains the greenhouse and cares for its plants. Landscaping learns special techniques and does work around the Vo-Tech area. The students from all of these classes compete in contests and attend leadership activities. The types of contests include: public speaking, parliamentary procedure and livestock judging. Every September the club holds a Chicken Bar-B-Que, and an annual banquet in April.

Dawn Bloch exhibits her ability to care for baby lambs.

Vo-Tech puts aside fertile land on which the animals may roam.

Advanced Dungeons and Dragons

Advanced Dungeons and Dragons is a fantasy game of role playing which relies upon the imagination of the participants; though it is certainly fantasy, it is so interesting, so challenging, and so mind-unleashing that it comes near reality.

As is typical in much of real life, each character begins at the bottom of his chosen class (or profession). By successfully meeting the challenges posed, they gain experience and move upwards in power, just as actual playing experience really increases playing skill. Imagination, intelligence, problem-solving ability, and memory are all continually exercised by participants in the game. Those players with cleverness, imagination, and a bit of luck usually have their characters prevail. The Dungeon master is Frank Steckel and the players include: Daniel Berta, Eli Brill, Younong Pin Chen, Steve Infanti, Rich King, Peter Prochnau, Paul Smith, Ron Smith, and Tom Ward.

The Theater Club, for the first time, became a performance as well as appreciation group. They performed a one act play during a club meeting and at senior citizen high rises in the city. The play was "The Ugly Duckling" by A.A. Milne. In addition, the club continued its activities of speakers and visits to colleges and local theaters. The club saw performances of "The Fantasticks", "The Crucible", and "Where's Charley?". The club earned money by selling season tickets to the Pennsylvania Stage Company performances, and used the money they raised to defer the costs of theater tickets. They also sponsored a bus trip to Philadelphia to see "A Chorus Line". The club continues meeting through the summer to picnic, read plays, and attend summer theater performances.

The Student Government Association is an organization whose purpose is to give the student body opportunities to become involved in school activities. The bulk of the group is comprised of Homeroom Representatives and Senators from each grade. Under the direction of Mr. William Rourke and the four officers: Edward Hanna, President; Brian Dolan, Vice-President; Maureen Perry, Secretary; and Robert Stephens, Treasurer, the SGA sponsors and plays a large part in many extracurricular activities. Some of the projects for the school year were: student exchanges; trips to New York City to see Broadway shows; school-wide assemblies and sales; United Way Youth Division fund-raisers; and of course, the annual Christmas tree in the main hall. Through its many programs, the SGA has become a vital part of Allen.

Christmas parties were held at a nursery school and Union Terrace Elementary School. Members also went caroling at a home for the elderly. Many projects were held to help the physically or mentally handicapped in and out of school. A Halloween party, complete with pumpkin carving, was held for Mr. Kelly's special education class. Members of the club performed a puppet show at Thanksgiving for hospitalized children. The highlights of the year were trips to the Game Preserve with children from day care centers, in the fall and spring.

Library Aides Assist Mrs. Trexler

The library aides are a group of hard-working students. The Library Aides Club is not very well known but the library could not function without it. The students volunteer their time to help keep the library running smoothly. They are found busy at work before, during, and after school checking out books, returning them to the shelves, cataloging them, typing, and performing numerous other tasks necessary for a well-functioning library.

In addition to library work, the club also has a social aspect. Throughout the year the members have parties and other special activities.

Mrs. Sally Trexler, the librarian, serves as the club's adviser. Miss Kercher and Mrs. Saylor assist with the club.

Canary Cavaliers Host Jazz Festival

The Canary Cavaliers held their annual Jazz Festival and competition on March 5, 1982 in the Allen Auditorium. The many people who attend the concert were entertained by nine area high school jazz and dance bands.

In addition to performing at the Allen Jazz Festival, the Cavaliers also performed at the Kutztown College Jazz Festival. They also competed for prizes at local high schools.

Under the direction of Mr. Richard Hinkle, this talented group of musicians practiced nearly every morning beginning at 7:30.

Each year the group elects a student director; this year they chose Otto Weber, based upon his musical excellence and fine leadership qualities. Other members of the Cavaliers were selected by Mr. Hinkle through audition procedures. Only band or orchestra members were permitted to audition.

The seniors of the Canary Cavaliers were: Trumpets- Otto Weber, Harry Wagner, and Scott Apgar; Trombones- Todd Lambert, Kevin Buxton, and Pete Ferry; Saxophone- Tom Walters; and Piano- Janice Spencer.

Chess Club Makes Interesting Moves

Members of the chess club practice their moves.

The chess club, under the direction of Mr. Messinger, holds meetings every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon from 3:05 to 4:00 p.m. At every meeting the members compete against each other for a spot on the chess team. The students who earn a position on the team then go on to compete against other schools. The team finished with an impressive record.

The 81-82 varsity football team has had the best overall record of 5-5-1, that an Allen football team has had in over eight years. They started the season a little slow with losses to Northampton, Freedom, Emmaus and Wilson, West Lawn, but the team did not die. They came back fighting with close wins over Liberty, Parkland and a tie with P-Burg. This, however, wasn't enough for the mighty Allen football team; they wanted more and got it with outstanding physical victories over Central Catholic, Easton, and Whitehall. They finished the season with a disappointing loss to cross-town rival Dieruff by a score of 0-8, as the Allen team just missed a field goal attempt with 17 seconds left on the clock.

The J.V. team, led by Mike Brogna on offense and Danny Delp on defense, succeeded in having a winning season. Winning 8 games, including Dieruff, and losing only 3 (Wilson West Lawn, Whitehall, and Phillipsburg), Allen placed third in the league. Team assets were Todd Doster, safety and receiver, Mike Brogna, quarterback and leading scorer, and linemen Ed Barnett, Tim Dempsey, and Dave Hower. Coaching the team were rookie Joe Zettlemoyer and Barry Ritter. The team offense scored a total of 179 points, while the defense gave up only 111 points. The Allen High School Girls' Field Hockey team, coached by Miss Ann Wenninger, sported its best season ever. Tri-captains Barb Bentz, Joan Leach, and Lisa Miller led the team to a 14-4 record. Boosting the aggressive team offense were juniors Diane Schleicher, the leading scorer, and Sue Brahm, leading the team in assists on goal. The team's "iron curtain" defense boasted ten shutouts, six of which occurred in consecutive games. Allen qualified for District XI competition for the first time in Field Hockey history. Allen lost to Parkland 5-4 in a flick-off, but the girls played outstanding hockey and exhibited true sportsmanship at all times.

The East Penn League chooses outstanding athletes to play on the All-Star Field Hockey Team. Allen is proud to declare that six team members were designated to compete in the All-Star game. Honored as First team offensive players were juniors Diane Schleicher and Melda Isaac; seniors Lisa Miller and Barb Bentz earned recognition as outstanding defensive competitors while Donna D'Amore was chosen goalie for the Second team. Teresa Tannous received an honorable mention for her consistent defensive play this year.

Goalie Jenny Webster posted 6 shutouts. Outstanding sophomore Lori Criswell, sidelined by a knee injury, returned midway through the season to bolster the line-up. Coached by Anne Wenninger and Pat Barr the team, through hard work and determination, managed a fine season. The girls are already looking forward to another successful season.

Because of experienced returning lettermen, next year's season should be an exciting one also.

The Allen JV Basketball team, composed of underclassmen who are hoping to win a spot on the varsity team, had an impressive season under the leadership of coach Leo Stinner. Losing only four times, three of the losses being non-league games, the boys had an excellent 20-4 record.

Some of the team's tougher games included losses to Central Catholic, Pottsville, and Coatesville, and a hard-earned win over P-Burg. The leading scorers were Jim Kucharczuk with a 315 point total, 13.3 points per game average; and Steve Neikam with a 265 point total, and 10.2 point per game average.

The 1981-1982 Girls' Basketball Team's first half of seasonal play was plagued by inexperience. Senior Lisa Miller was the only returning starter from last year's PIAA State Championship Team, and the other team members saw little action last season. This year's team consisted of five returning varsity letter winners: Kelly Adams, Donna D'Amore, Joan Leach, Lisa Miller, and Julie Molrine. Other senior members include Colleen Brobst and Patti Kurtz. Donna D'Amore suffered a knee injury early in November, sidelining her for the season. Starters Julie Molrine and Kelly Adams controlled the back court while Joan Leach, Lisa Miller, and Junior Stacy Benson took charge of the front court.

Joan Leach finds herself in search of a teammate to pass off to.

An increasing interest in womens' athletics has toughened competition in the league. The Basketball season runs from November through March, with practices held six days a week. The Chicks finished .500 on the season, qualifying for District XI playoffs. The team showed improvement in both individual and team play as the season progressed into the second half of play. Returning next year will be Stacy Benson, Sue Brahm, Beth Connelly, Mary Kurtz, Becky Orr, Julie Ortt, and Jerry Pezoldt. The Junior class members exhibited fine talent and several freshmen and sophomore girls also show great promise. Allen Girls' Basketball will continue to be a tough competitor in the future.

Freshman Sue Stringer moves downcourt.

Coach Steve Brosky began his coaching career in 1979 with a group of girls who are 1982 graduates. He led his team to an undefeated season, and earned the respect and admiration of all the girls. Those who have played Junior Varsity Basketball under Mr. Brosky's supervision realize what a great asset he was both to basketball and to the players. He exemplified everything that a coach should be: a supportive person who encouraged every individual to play to the best of her potential. Coach Brosky's resignation from the position of Junior Varsity coach shall be a great loss to Allen High School Girls' Basketball. Mr. Brosky was a friend, a father, and a fantastic coach.

This year's Junior Varsity team was led by starters Donna Ackerman, Janine Bergenstock, Jill Jones, Colleen Reiss, and Sue Stringer to a 12 and 11 record. The girls showed much individual talent and will prove to be valuable members of future Allen Girls' Basketball teams. Hopefully, they will fare as well in future seasons.

Swimmers Finish In Style

The Boys' Swim team finished the season with a 9-1 record and in second place in the East Penn Conference. The team's only loss was to East Penn Conference champion, Emmaus. Leading the team were senior co-captains Mike Schiavone and Shaun Lindenmuth, who were state qualifiers last season. Mr. Richard Blead, along with the assistance of Mr. Tim Roberts, coached the team to their many victories.

Also contributing to the success of the team were seniors Chris Blead and Mike Saylor; juniors Richie Roberts, Eric Bentz, Jim Irvine and Jim Hersh; sophomores Tom Browne and Cliff Gouck; and freshman Robbie Kiesel. With many returning lettermen, the team should again be a tough competitor next season.

Swimmers Show Style

On your mark, get set, GO!!

The Allen High School Girls' Swimming Team, under the direction of Mr. Blead, experienced their first year as a combined league with the boys' team. Although they compete during the same events, the scoring is done separately according to their respective sex.

The team's co-captains are Kristin Whitner and Regina Zobb.

Proving their devotion toward the team, the members lift weights on Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 7:00. They swim every day after school for two strenuous hours to improve their endurance and speed. Practices are hard work, but tapering is sometimes involved.

Most members helped support the Olympic team and the Swimmer Hall of Fame by participating in a swim-a-thon. Each person was responsible for one hundred dollars worth of sponsors. They were required to swim 200 laps within three hours. The majority of the team finished in less than two hours.

This year, Emmaus proved to be the biggest and most important competition of the season.

Senior Divers Go Undefeated

The diving squad spent many tedious, long hours practicing their diving abilities. Mr. Bleam, who is in charge of the squad, worked with them everyday to insure the best possible results. And as always, it was worth it. Mike Saylor and Deanna Hertzog, both seniors, went through the entire season undefeated. The rest of the squad did well also.

This year, the squad consisted of six members. They were: Chris Culp, Deanna Hertzog, Vicki Hoffman, Mike Saylor, Kim Steiner, and Bev Severt.

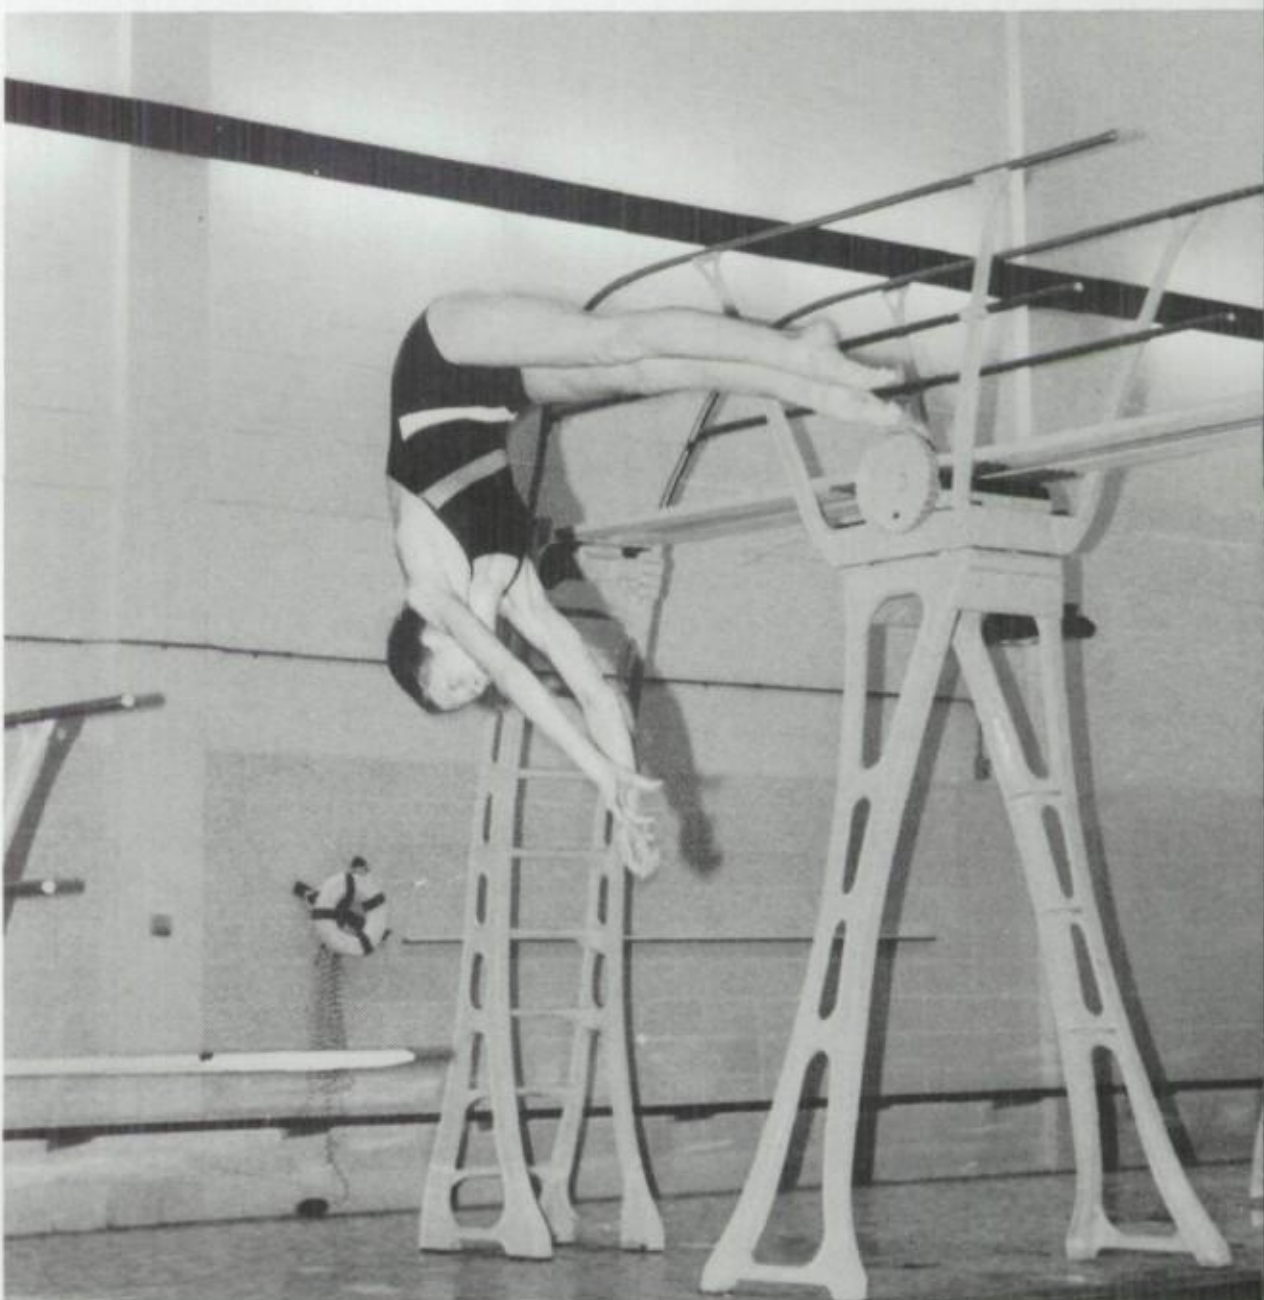

Mike Saylor makes it evident in this dive, that he deserves the title of undefeated senior diver.

Intramurals Enhance Abilities

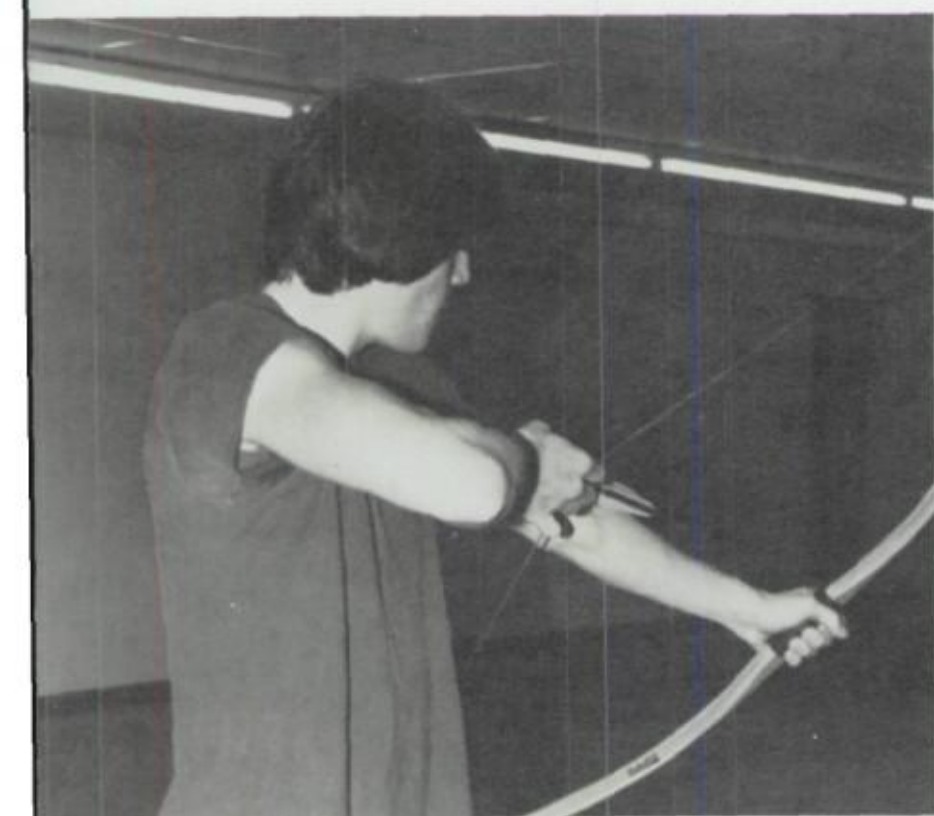

The intramural program provides students with an opportunity to enhance their abilities in the athletic field. Mr. Mascavage is in charge of the intramural program; he is assisted by Miss Wenninger and Mrs. Walbert. Much of their time is spent organizing and supporting the program. They offer a variety of sports, such as: archery, bowling, basketball, badminton, volleyball, and ping-pong.

Canaries Prove Successful

This year's boys' tennis team compiled an improved record of five wins and six losses. The top three ranked players were Chris Mitchell, Kurt Schaller, and Tom Browne. Although achieving an average record, the team proved it had the potential to be a contender. Underclassmen Tom Browne, Peter Juhasz, and John Ashbrook should be a driving force on next year's team.

Netters Gain Experience

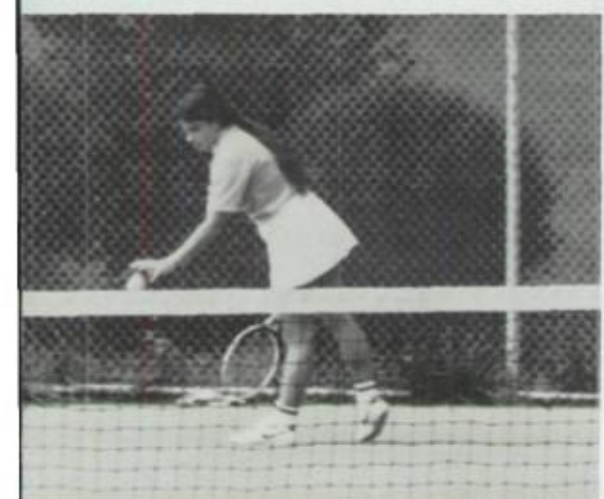

This season the girls' tennis team began under the leadership of new-comer, Miss Susan Byrne. After losing many letter winners to graduation, this year became a rebuilding year. The girls were a young team, but learned and gained more knowledge of their game. The team was led by sophomores Jill Neuman and Jane Bernini and senior Fran Weber; ranked first, second and third respectfully. Although they compiled a 2-9 record, the girls proved that they have strong potential for next season.

The Varsity Wrestling team finished this season with an improved and successful 10-6 record. The team was coached by Mr. Donald Schleicher, Mr. Ronald Trexler and Mr. Richard Kressler. This was Mr. Kressler's first year of coaching at Allen; he was formally the head coach of the Raub Junior High wrestling team. Leading the team was senior captain Troy Holman, who accumulated an excellent record for the season. Other wrestlers who accumulated successful records were senior Kevin Roth, freshman Scott Schleicher, senior Ted Kress and junior Mike Brosky. Brosky was also the winner of the Davis Award, which is awarded to the top wrestler in the Allen-Dieruff meet each year.

Gymnasts Display Talent

The Gymnastics Team, coached by Mr. Robert Tostevin, has done an outstanding job this year. Unfortunately, the Allen Physical Education Center was not available to the gymnasts for practice or competition; therefore, the coach and team thank Trexler Middle School for allowing them the use of their facilities.

Although the team record is not what they had hoped it would be, they have shown improvement with every meet and have set their goal for a very successful season next year.

Gymnastics at Allen is not a very popular sport, but the team needs the recognition and support of the Allen fans and strongly encourages them to get involved.

Boys Shoot For Districts In '82

The Boys' Volleyball team, under the direction of Mr. Francis Moran, finished the season with a disappointing record of (2-10). Senior Chris Young, the captain, set an excellent example for the other players through hard work and dedication. Junior letterman Dave Kmetz exhibited a tremendous amount of potential for development into a true team leader. Coach Moran is relying heavily on the efforts of Dave as well as other seniors and returning players for an improved team next year. Through many more strenuous practices and much hard work the boys hope to reach districts and maybe even states along with the girls' team.

Senior Chris Young spikes the ball through two opposing blockers as Frank Grate awaits results.

Eric Bentz and Larry Schade are in position to block Emmaus hit as several Emmaus players look on.

Showing improvement over the previous year, the Girls' Volleyball team reached district competition with a record of (8-6). The team consisted of five returning starters: Jackie Mayes, Tracey Volpe, Sue Moyer, Cheryl Kohl, Teresa Tannous and Kris Kercher, led by senior Kris Bachert. The girls, under the direction of Mr. Robert Bold, finished the season in fourth place in district competition. The team, along with many faithful spectators, hope for a more prominent year.

Coach Ralph Pritsch and assistant coach Tim Kelley trained in spring to prepare individuals for final league competition. Seniors Dave Cox, Mark Kiefer, John Caligiuri, Ed Dzema, and Curtis Golden accompanied Reitz and Gisolfi. Promising juniors Tony Stimpson, John Toso, Dave Weaver, and Bruce Lindenberg qualified for the league meet. Also attending were sophomores Mike Angstadt, Jim Hennessey, and Reggie Taylor. Taylor was the only team member who traveled to states, competing in the triple jump event.

Four Allen Girls Win Places On Pennsylvania All-Star Team

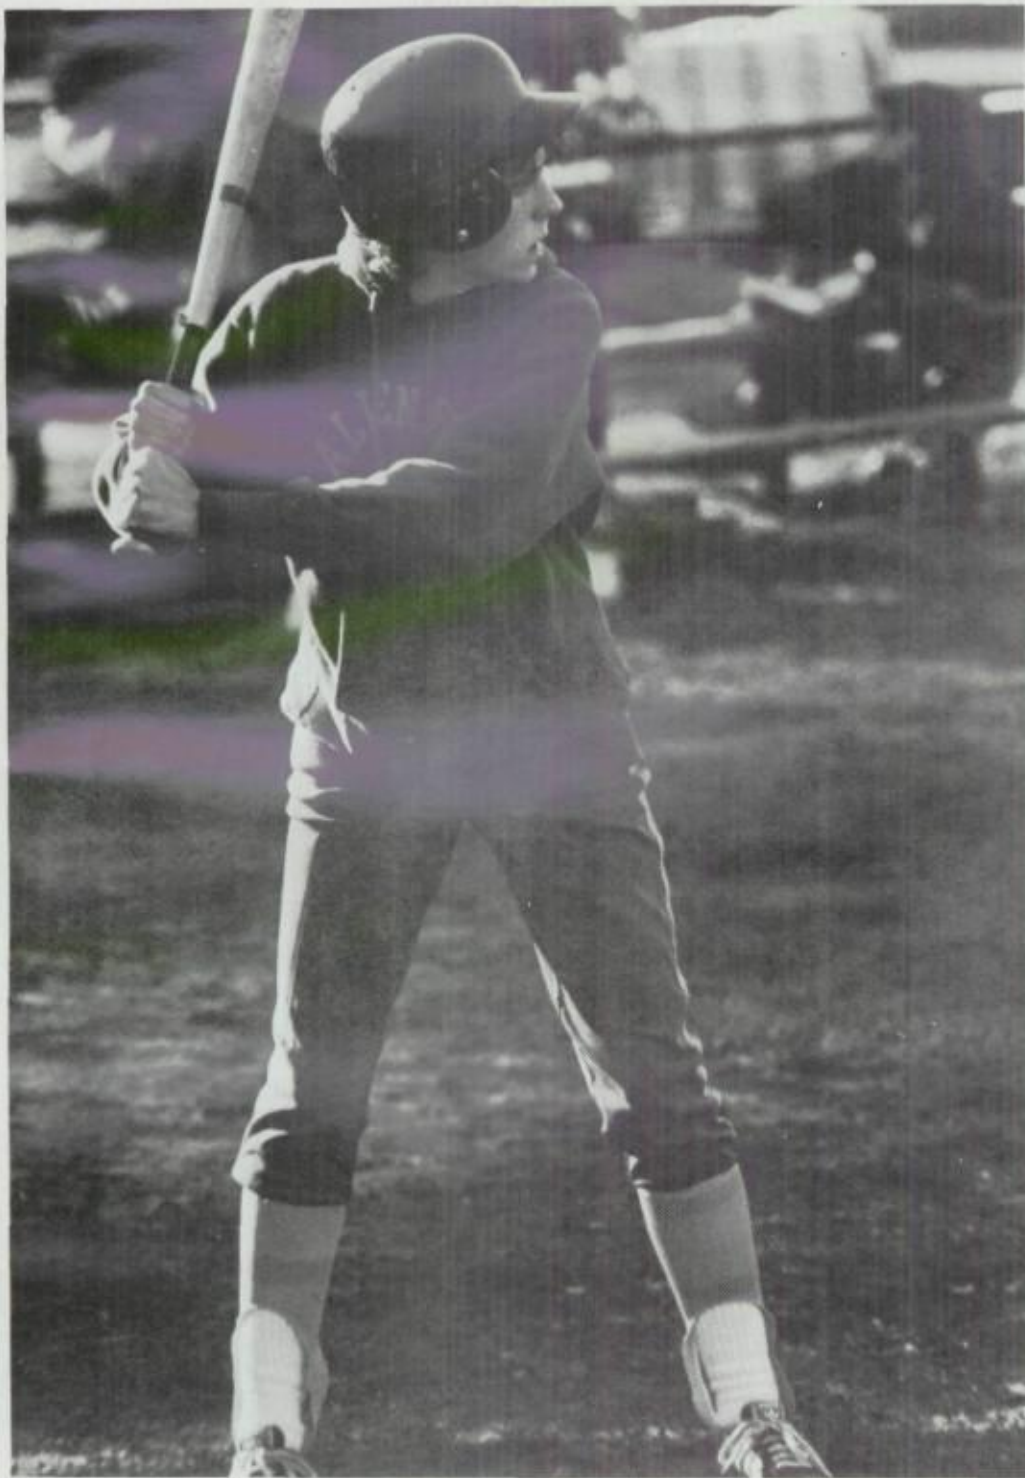

Field Hockey Coach Ann Wenninger congratulates senior Barb Bentz, junior Becky Orr, senior Lisa Miller and junior Diane Schleicher on their being named to the Pennsylvania All-Star Hockey team.

Barb Bentz, Lisa Miller, Becky Orr, and Diane Schleicher have all recently tried out for and made the All-Star Hockey team from the state of Pennsylvania. Schleicher and Orr (juniors), and Bentz and Miller (seniors), traveled to the team try-outs held at Ursinus, about one hour away. Practice time was also held at the same field. The tournament was held in Orlando, Florida. The girls were gone during Thanksgiving vacation, leaving November 24 and returning November 29. Coach Ann Wenninger did not go along. In an interview, Coach Wenninger stated how proud she was of her girls. "I screamed and hollered for them to work on individual skills, and they finally did it on their own time. They deserve a lot of credit." She feels they spent much of their own time working very hard. At the same time the girls were playing in Florida, the Olympic team and the Collegiate All-Star Field Hockey teams were chosen. The girls traveled by plane, along with three coaches from other area schools, one being Pat Diereking from Southern Lehigh. The four girls all feel basically the same about all the excitement. They replied, "Excited but scared." We congratulate them on their hard work and victories.

Dolores Harris anxiously awaits the next pitch.

Karen Dressell winds up for another hit.

Outstanding players were: Catcher Donna D'Amore, Pitcher Dolores Harris, First Baseman Becky Orr, Second Baseman Karen Dressell, Shortstop Tammy Danner, Third Baseman Sue Wilson and Left Fielder Kelley Lester. Although their final record was not a winning one, the team still showed much talent and returning members are looking forward to the 1982 season.

Being a preppie is more than wearing Izod shirts and Topsiders. From toddlers to young adults, preppies lead basically the same lives. As they grow up going to private academies, taking piano lessons and spending summers at camp is a part of their lives. After graduation from prep school, they attend ivy league schools such as Yale, Harvard or Princeton University. Preppies then marry and move to West Chester, Darien — suburbia, U.S.A. Here preppies produce little preppies spawning the cycle anew.

"Preppie" is not merely a form of dress, but an attitude, a personality, and a life style.

Mr. Willie Wonka- the man who gave Charlie that wonderful tour through his chocolate factory is now known for more than just chocolate. He gave the world the Everlasting Gobstopper. The average person looks at these small colored spheres and sees merely sugar, dyes, and flavors. As we, Allen High School's class of 1982, look at the candy, we see "everlasting" in bold print. This word, everlasting, sums up our senior section. The memories made in these three years will last forever, just as the candy does.

The Allen High School Contemporary Affairs Club had the honor of being host for a Mayoral Debate featuring Allentown candidates, democrat Joseph S. Daddona, and Republican Robert G. Smith, Jr.

Club officers, Shirin Marvi, Debbie Barret, and Gigi Guttman posed questions to the candidates in order to observe the applicant's viewpoint. One of the questions the panel posed was what effect President Reagan's budget would have on the city of Allentown. Daddona stated that he believed the effects would not be felt until 1983, and that particular city services could be the targets of possible cutbacks. Smith replied, by saying that the federal funding to states will benefit Allentown only if priorities are established for spending these funds. The remainder of the debate went as planned with each candidate giving his opinion and rebuttal.

Being host for an event such as a Mayoral Candidate debate proves beneficial to all students as well as to the Contemporary Affairs Club members. The club's members number an unbelievable 350 students, making it the largest organization in the school.

As the art students and instructors went on their way, overcast skies certainly didn't dampen their spirits. All students involved in the art department had the opportunity to join in the fun trip to the zoo. Three chartered buses carried the freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior students. A bagged lunch, sketching pad, and optional camera were among their belongings. After the trip, when the students returned to the classroom, the sketches and pictures became a major project of the year. Mr. Firestone, Mr. Blanchard, Mr. Pritsch, and Mrs. Gaydos were the accompanying instructors.

U.S. Army Jazz Band Performs For

The U.S. Army Field Band presented The Jazz Ambassadors, a jazz ensemble, to Allen High School seniors. The band gave a presentation of both rock and roll and jazz music for approximately 45 minutes. The senior audience overwhelmingly applauded the band, and at the conclusion of the program the students gave a standing ovation. The band vocalists did an impression of the Blues Brothers, performing various titles from the soundtrack. "Urgent" by Foreigner and "One In A Million" by Larry Graham were two selections played. The upperclassmen thoroughly enjoyed the many renditions selected by the band.

Allen seniors enjoy lunch in the Student Center.

Allen offered students numerous places to eat lunch. The main cafeteria, the cafeteria annex, and the student center served as options from which students could choose their menu.

Vending machines offered various types of snacks and meals, and microwave ovens debuted in the student center in 1975. Due to the increase in the student body, an additional lunch line appeared in the student center to help speed up lunch service.

The majority of the students chose to eat in either the main cafeteria or the cafeteria annex. Lunch prices had once again increased, as the price rose to seventy-five cents, a ten cent increase from last year's cost.

Whether one preferred the casual atmosphere of the student center's scenario or the chaos of the main cafeterias, the basics of a well-balanced meal still existed.

Tracy O'Hearn, Laurie Miller, Lenna Laskaris, Donna McAfee, Diane Kalb, and Kay Peacock display their Comus People T-shirts.

Shortly after school started, the Comus staff was busily working on the yearbook theme, Allen People. The yearbook is broken up into six sections: Highlights, Student Life, Sports, Seniors, Faculty, and Ads. In keeping with the theme of the yearbook, each of the section editors picked a color and adjective to describe his section, just like the word used to describe People Magazine. Highlights is fascinating; Sports is captivating; Seniors is everlasting; Faculty is educating; and Ads is motivating. These words are used on the various pages of the yearbook to further illustrate the theme.

The staff decided that for the Comus class picture, they would wear T-shirts of various colors with their section-word displayed on their chest, and Allen People across their back.

The scene for the picture was that of the Union Terrace amphitheater on a hill overlooking the Union Terrace pond.

With their brightly-colored T-shirts on, the Comus Staff made six color-coordinated lines according to the section of the yearbook they represented.

After sitting patiently, tightly squeezed in all directions, the pictures were taken and the students were permitted to go to lunch.

Every year Allen students have been swamped by sales of many kinds. Various organizations run sales throughout the year.

Third period arrives almost everyday. Stomachs are growling, waiting to eat that luscious food in the cafeteria. Then out of no where, one of the many club members appear with his big box of candy. At Allen, we have had a variety. The brands of candy range anywhere from lollipops, Peanut Chews, to M&M's, and of course we had a choice of plain, or Peanut.

The Cheerleaders were running around with these cute little animals, which were irresistible. The money made selling these products has been beneficial to our school. The money has provided our clubs, with uniforms, and the opportunity to go on trips, in addition to sponsoring dances. Without such sales, our clubs could not have existed.

Rainfall Brings Downfall

Donald E. Hersch

Deanna C. Hertzog

This year's marathon fought with natural causes. As the decoration committee worked, no one noticed the threat of the rain, or the possible cancellation of the game.

It wasn't until 1:00 that the question of cancelling was made known. By 3:00 the rain had not stopped and Phillipsburg called to reschedule the game for Saturday.

This uncontrollable situation meant that the football players, band members, and cheerleaders could not participate in the "main event" of the school year.

Those affected by the sudden cancellation were very disappointed, although they were given permission to dance during the first two hours. Because the game was at Phillipsburg, our Athletic Department had no authority in the matter. Most participants whose partners would not stay due to the game remained at the marathon and danced through the night.

For some unknown reason a tremendous phone frenzy has developed at Allen this year. Consuming food at lunch now takes second priority to communicating with others outside of the school. For this reason, extremely long lines at the telephone have become part of the scenery of the main hall. It has become a contest to see who can make it to the phone first and then who can stay on the longest.

There are various reasons why the phone is so popular. For example, some students call for a ride home, others call friends who are absent from school and occasionally there really are emergencies.

While the majority of the renovations were completed last year, Allen's lavatories had their new looks completed this year. Many a student innocently asked permission to make a quick trip to the lavatory, only to be confronted with locked doors. The court, shown upper right, serves two purposes. First, it is a recreational court where some people choose to play basketball. Second, it is known as Cancer Court. This is where students may feel free to go before school or during lunch periods if they need to smoke. The court originated approximately six years ago and since then has been used by many students. Allen is a very privileged and unique school to have an area such as this opened to the students.

As we pulled into the nearest parking spot we could find, her car started overheating again. "I guess this means you can't have the car again tonight," I said in disgust. "Now how will we get to the party?"

Over the past few years, cars have become much more than a way to get from here to there. They have become a sign of status and popularity. And now that Mr. Joseph Daddona has won the 1981 Mayoral election, many teenagers are wondering: Will a dragstrip really be built in the area?

Some say it will aggravate the racing of cars and make the situation worse. The extreme variety runs from motorcycles to vans, and jacked-up Camaro's to new Berlinetta's.

Celeste Gaydos, Lori Diehl, Sheri Ritter, and Donna D'Amore create a tasty dish.

Snickerdoodles, quicky pizzas and cheese puffs, - just what are they? If you are enrolled in the Creative Cooking Class, offered as an elective course, you would know that these are just a few of the many tasty, savory recipes that cooking students participate in preparing and later eating.

Creative Cooking, under the supervision of Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Davis, and Mrs. Neuman, takes place in room 219, all seven periods of the day. Due to the popularity of the course, during the sixth period two separate cooking classes must meet together in one kitchen on food preparation and eating day.

The Main Kitchen, Room 219, is further broken down into five individual, color-coded kitchens. Each individual kitchen, consists of its own oven and cooking utensils, and there are also three refrigerators and two microwave ovens that are made available for the students' use.

By the end of the year, the new Cooking Room should be in Room 224, and shall consist of new, more modern appliances.

You are not seeing double, just four sets of senior twins: Kevin and Karen DePietro, Kim and Karen Dressel, Jim and Steve Falatko, and Dave and Diane Kalb.

Growing up as a twin meant having mom dress her toddlers completely alike or in cute little matching outfits. "I just loved the sailor suits we wore!" commented Kevin DePietro. All their friends and relatives always termed them as the twins, not by their names.

"Most people don't even realize that me and Dave are twins," says Diane Kalb. "They hear our names but never pair us together. They can't believe we're twins!" Dave and Diane are fraternal twins which can be a set of a male and a female or a set of two babies of the same sex. Fraternal twins are easier to tell apart than identical twins. They account for two-thirds of all the twin births.

Identical twins are always the same sex. They are harder to tell apart than the fraternal twins. Twins tend to have very different personalities, tastes, and likes and dislikes. Most people seem to think of the twins as just clones and being the same in looks and thoughts; however, the truth is that each twin is his or her own complete individual.

September 9, 1981, opened new doors at Allen High School. For the first time in a half of a century, freshmen exist on Allen's six-building campus. With the addition of six hundred ninth graders to the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade levels, the student body soars to a total of two thousand, eight hundred.

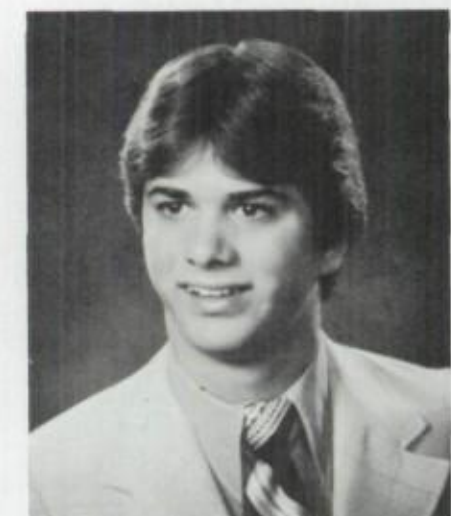

Allen students appear proud to make more people an active part of the big "A".

Numerous faculty members also join the AHS staff, making the faculty body a total of two hundred and thirty members.

With the addition of freshmen and faculty members, the school has been made a bigger and better family.

Merrit Jacob, Joe Schell, and Donna D'Amore display their handicaps.

While walking through the crowded halls of Allen High School one finds that the stairways were frequently slower than usual due to students on crutches. Since the elevator was not in working condition, these unfortunate people had to use the stairs. Although they usually got special permission to leave their classes early, they sometimes got caught in the five-minute rush.

The incidents putting these students in this condition vary from athletic accidents to those occurring within the school and outside the home.

During the course of the year, Tim and Mike O'Connor could both be seen walking the halls on crutches. Both were incapacitated by untimely circumstances during the soccer season.

Along with many students, Mr. Kish was also seen using crutches due to a mishap in his classroom.

SNAP, Student Newspaper Advisery Publications, has been in effect for three years. Sponsored and supervised by the Call-Chronicle, the program involves six other area high schools. The Call employs educational service coordinators Donna Haggerty and Marie Lathrop; they assist the staff members in utilizing the equipment of the Morning Call. The computers and facilities of the Call may be used by trained SNAP participants. Training sessions were conducted during the summer and only those students who qualified in computer operating and graphics are permitted to participate in the SNAP program. Approximately once a month staff members are dismissed from school in order to engage in functioning at the Morning Call to begin production of an issue. Pre-production days are allotted several times before production days to get a head start on the issue. Pre-production days consist of mainly typing the articles into the computer system, which then sets the articles to be placed on page layouts, designed by those trained in graphics. The Call produces negatives from the page layouts. The negatives are returned to the Canary staff members who then forward the negatives to the printers. The printer (Hughes Printing Company) manufactures the actual off-set printing.

SNAP has proved very successful in the past, helping students to produce a fine and professional newspaper.

At Allen there are various extracurricular activities. Besides school-related functions, there are those which seem to be more appealing than others. Students act totally different after 3:00. "Hanging out" for some is as much time consuming as sports and clubs for others. Needless to say, they all tie in together. After the homework is finished, West Allentown rocks with a decent nightlife. The nightlife contains such events as the all popular Allen dances on Friday nights, to parties held by fellow students. These events are basically for students to get out of the house, socialize with friends, and meet new interesting PEOPLE. Other students enjoy cruisin' and having their own private parties at popular places such as after ten, nearby colleges, and the quarry. Naturally students like to be around other students and talk about events of the past week.

However, not all students can attend these parties because they hold part time jobs. Places of employment range from working with dad, to working at fast food chains, banks, hotels, and department stores.

Sports also play an important part in many students' lives. This year Allen students brought victory to some of the football, basketball, and soccer games. This just goes to show how much school spirit we have.

Todd Kelby, Keith Fisher, Mark Fainor, Connie Cope, Kevin Lipyanik, Tracy Volpe, and Tracy O'Hearn devote their afternoon to their favorite pastime, "Hanging Out" at Union Terrace.

If you have had an injury throughout the school year, you are probably familiar with the elevators at Allen High School. They were installed for those students who would have difficulty climbing the stairs during the school day. Even though the elevator may take a short period of time to arrive, it is much appreciated by our disabled students.

A new fad hit the halls of Allen this year; it's the "Sound of Music". No, not the movie, just the sound of music that is heard on a Sony Walkman, which allows students to enjoy the vibrant sounds of their favorite tunes. The headphones, which connect to a small, light-weight, radio-cassette box, allow a student to escape the havoc and confusion of the overcrowded noisy halls, and flee into his own world of highly-intensified sounds, while keeping the pulsating noise of the music from being heard by those persons beyond the headphones. Yes, all-in-all, this looks like yet another long-living fad to leave its mark at Allen.

School policy mandates tardy students to report to the attendance office to explain their lateness. Excuses range from the ordinary to the outrageous. Commonly heard are "I missed the bus" and "I overslept." Some students show more originality by saying such things as "A bird relieved himself on my head and I had to go home to wash my hair" and "I lost my comb and couldn't leave home without it." Now don't be surprised if somewhere, sometime, somebody comes up to you and says, "What's your excuse?"

Revolutions in Fashion

Fashion has become the American pastime. So many people are more fashion conscious than ever. People feel that the type and design of their clothes is an important aspect of their everyday lives. The new looks include luscious leathers, luxurious furs, and sensuous wools. Not only is the particular fabric important, but clothes have to be beautifully styled and detailed. Nowadays people are realizing the importance of better made garments which last longer than the less expensive ones. Man-made materials are very unpopular at Allen. Most of the clothing worn is wool and cotton fibers.

Seniors show a fashion flair, and have fun doing it.

Connie Cope, and Charlie Kelly display Aigner and western boots.

Numbers And Figures

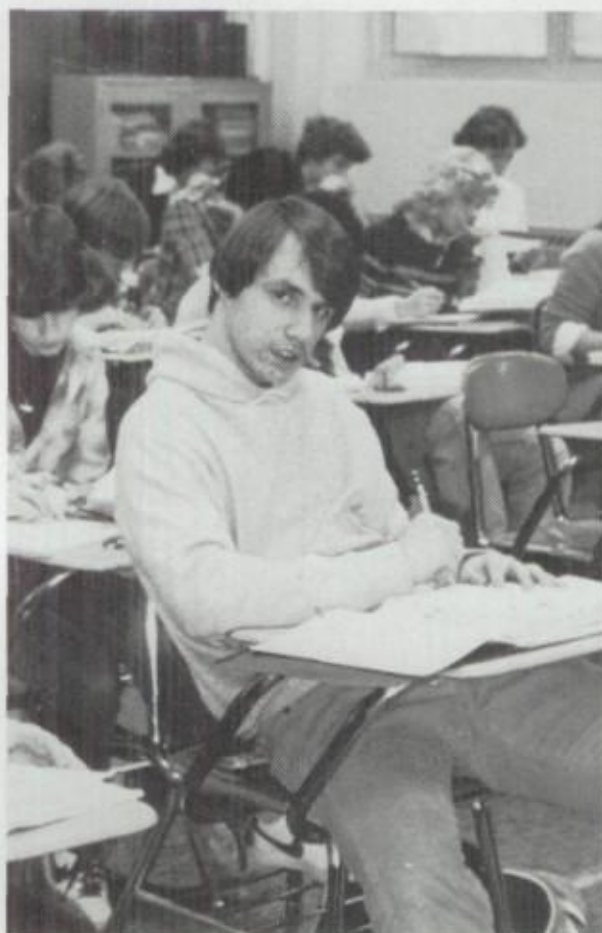

Mr. Donmoyer in action during his Geometry class.

Students occupy themselves with Algebra homework.

Numbers and figures may not be your game, but many seniors are enrolled in various mathematical classes learning the fine art of anything from adding and subtracting to understanding differential and integral calculus, a part of Mr. Lindenmoyer's Gifted BC Calculus curriculum this year.

Mr. Lindenmoyer, a teacher at Allen for fourteen years, began teaching calculus only two years ago. Likewise, Mr. DeBellis taught Computer Programming for fifteen years before taking up MC Algebra and Analytic Geometry two years ago.

While Mr. Lindenmoyer tries to prepare his students for college, Mr. DeBellis tries to teach his students the concepts which they may be lacking.

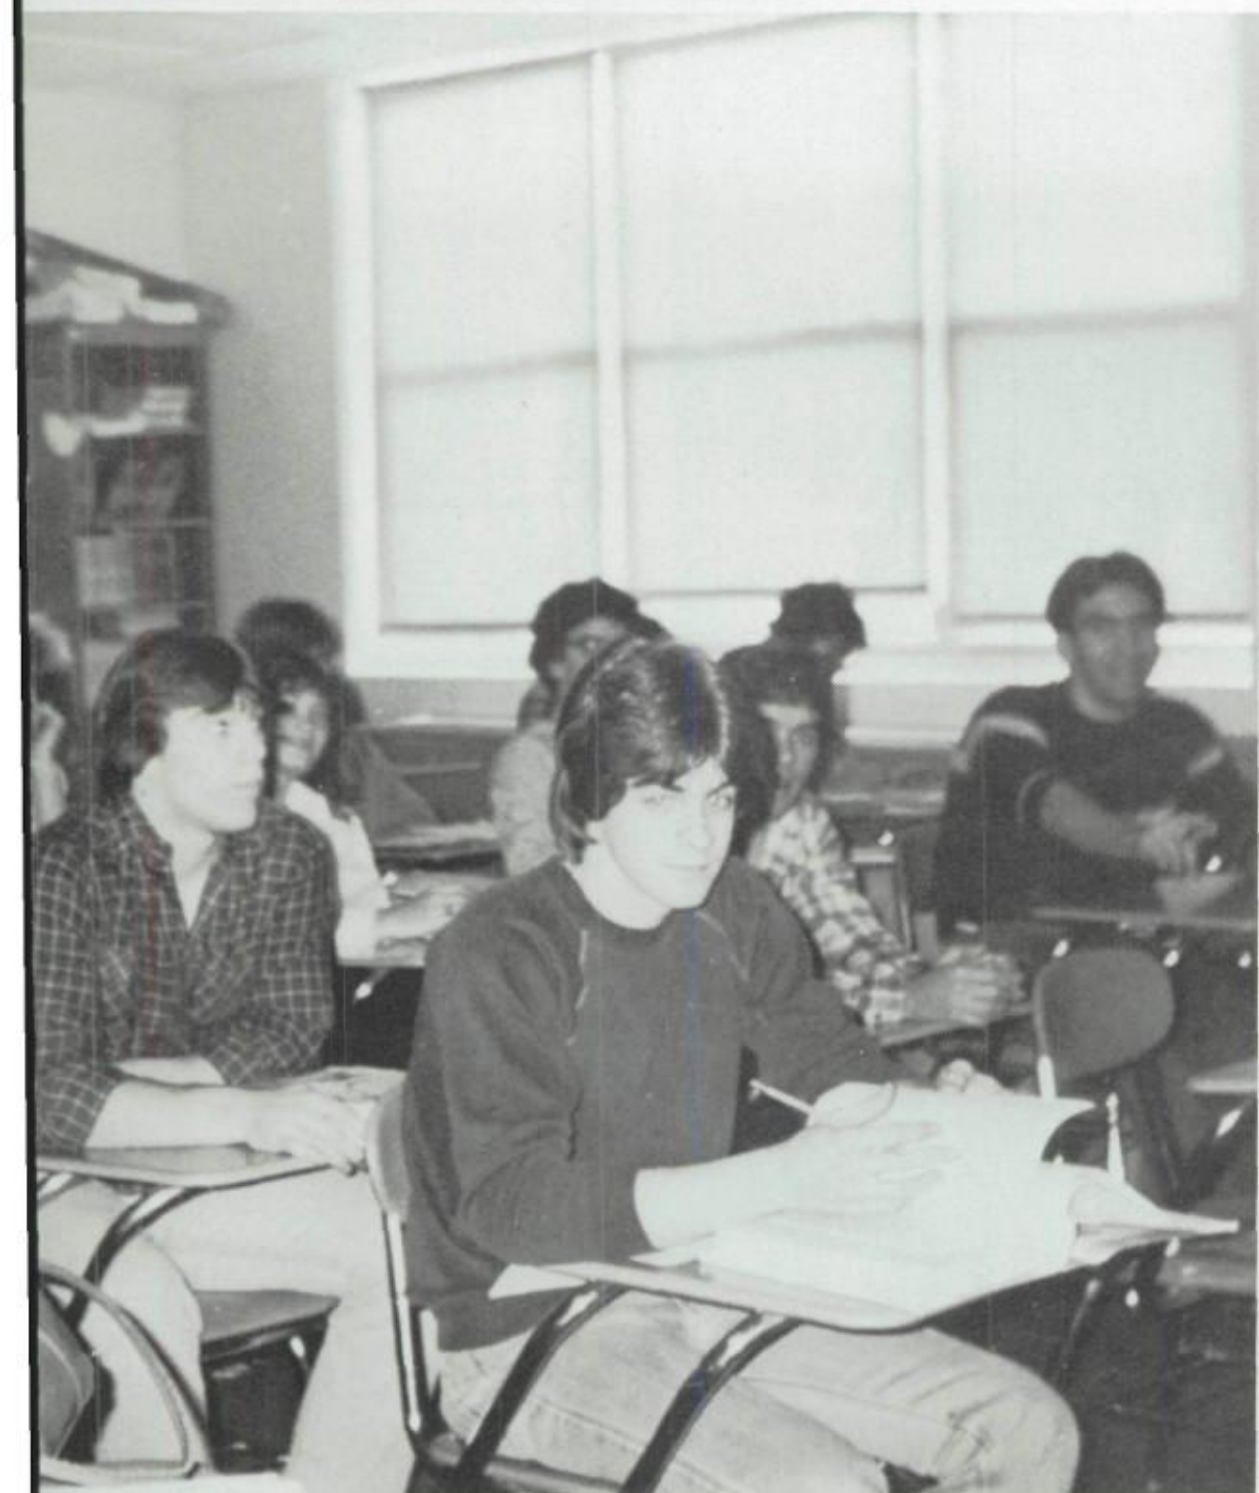

Students Learn About Society

A patriotic Mr. Ackley, teaches his students all they need to know about Psychology.

Mr. Hanna's third period Economic class learns about the economy via a film.

Melody Holdren and Keith Howells study for a major Economic test.

Sheppard vs. Maxwell — this was a famous, controversial trial of the '50's. Of course, you would have known this, if you were enrolled in the Criminal Civil class, under the supervision of Mr. Sabler.

The class is designed to tell students what rights they do and do not have under the legal code on both the state and federal levels; it also shows explicit, factual cases that come to trial, and the decision of innocence or guilt.

Economics, another Social Studies course offered at Allen, tells the students how the economic state is derived and what can and has been done to improve, if possible. Other Social Studies courses offered at Allen are: Western Civ., Major Religions of the World, Psychology, U.S. History, Emerging Nations, Soviet and Chinese Studies, which are designed to help the student increase his knowledge of the subjects.

The Most Difficult Language To Learn

Mrs. Finizzi carefully evaluates Andrea Orgler's oral report during Public Speaking class.

During an English class, students discuss the answers concerning a test that was previously given.

Mrs. Thomas returns papers to students who are involved in the Advanced Placement English program.

The English Department offers many courses to enrich the vocabulary and to prepare those students planning to take the college board exams.

College Skills, an elective subject, is a popular course, in which the main objective is to expand the vocabulary.

The students within Mrs. Mory's Drama class participate in many methods of acting, such as dramatic readings, pantomime, and single original "skits". A culminating experience for the individuals is a trip to New Hope to attend the "Drama Festival Day", where they see a play.

Public Speaking is a course designed to improve the verbal skills of those students who want to gain self-confidence or who want to pursue a career that demands verbal prowess.

Media in Print is a course designed for students to produce the high school yearbook. This course concentrates on the methods for developing the Comus, specializing on writing advertising techniques, layouts, photography, and typography.

Journalism is a course directed to the study of the contemporary newspaper. Students are taught techniques involving editing, writing columns, reporting, and research. The Advanced Journalism Workshop is responsible for producing the school newspaper, The Canary, and the Literary Art Magazine, sometimes referred to as INKLINGS.

Tony DeFiore modestly raises his hand.

Foreign Languages Attract Seniors

Allen High School offers many foreign languages as electives. Many seniors chose to take a foreign language of either beginning or advanced level. Languages are a very exciting part of the Senior year.

Because of the increased popularity of Latin over the last few years, a Latin III class was formed. Mrs. Patricia Knox teaches the Latin III class. The Latin classes plan to join the Junior Classical League which holds statewide spring sessions for the Latin students.

Mrs. Santa Zanchettin teaches the Italian I and II classes. The students not only learn to communicate fluently in Italian, but also are familiarized with the culture and customs of Italy. The classes have made expresso coffee and pizzelle in class and have organized a complete Italian meal. They also compete in a weekly game of Italian bingo.

With all the interesting activities in the foreign language classes, it's no surprise that so many seniors want to speak in more than one tongue. OLE!

Doug Kuhnsman, Jill Becker, Gina Galliano, Cliff Kitey, and Joan Alves do their Spanish questions from the story.

Mrs. Knox leads the singing of Latin Christmas carols for her enthusiastic Latin I class.

Allen High Has It All

YOU were supposed to catch the ball!

There is a hundred dollar bill at the bottom of the pool!

Gee guys, I want to play too!

I think I can, I think I can!

What goes up must come down!

FACT: Physical Education is required each year at Allen.

FICTION: Physical Education is boring.

Allen High School's physical education offers more than the ordinary. In total, there are four stations that students must attend throughout the school year. Classes are divided into four groups which rotate to the different stations: main gym, universal, archery, and swimming. Activities in the main gym include basketball, gymnastics, field hockey, football and soccer. When students are stationed in the universal, they will lift weights and run a mile around the track to meet the requirements needed to pass. In archery, students learn the art of shooting arrows at a target placed at the opposite end of the room. As for the activities in swimming, it depends on the grade of the student. Ninth and tenth grades learn basic swimming: back and breast strokes, butterfly, and freestyle. In eleventh grade, students learn snorkling. Finally, twelfth graders use the pool to canoe and scuba dive.

It is a fact that physical education at Allen High School is anything but boring. After all, Allen High has it all.

When is the Sixers' scout coming?

You better get out of my way!

I'm not going in first!

Electives Spark Interests

A few of the many electives available at Allen High School are cooking, sewing, and music. The Home Economics course includes Creative Cooking I and II and Creative Stitchery. Cooking students learn the fine art of preparing various dishes ranging from quick pizzas to stuffed chicken dinners. Students take pride in slaving over a hot stove once a day for the taste of delicious foods.

Students test their creativity in sewing class, by creating numerous projects including pillows, jumpers, blouses and dresses. The projects, once completed and graded, are free for the students to take home.

Students interested in music have the opportunity to sing, study theory and learn to play just about any instrument. These students receive a grade while enjoying music.

"MmmmMmmm good!" says White Kitchen.

I hope he knows what he is doing!

You caught me!

Wow! Look at us.

no ... I sewed the legs together!

What are you looking at?

Who said the jitterbug was out?

Class Explores Feline Features

Students explore inner features of cats

Sue Kurtz, Kathy Prochaska and Kim Morgan intently study their cat.

Kim Waggoner and Jill Kopenhaver make a complete study of their feline friend.

Charlie Kelly makes that first, all-important incision.

Many of the students enrolled in the College Prep curriculum are well aware of the infamous Biology and Physics courses they must take. Mr. Kindt, Mr. Tostevin, and Mr. Elias are the three main instructors of these courses. Mr. Elias teaches tenth grade Survey of Science, and instructs classes through the twelfth grade. He teaches seniors Human Biology, Ecology and Field Biology, and Biology I. He strives to develop the students' proficient use of biological terminology and use of biological apparatus. Mr. Elias annually takes his Ecology class to the Poconos on a field trip.

Mr. Kindt instructs the Honors and Gifted Physics II classes. Mr. Kindt's goals are to get the concept of the class across to the majority of his students; to try to get his students to think for themselves; and to have his students become motivated. Occasionally, he takes his class to the Science Day at Moravian College.

Mr. Tostevin teaches the Human Biology and A.P. and Gifted Biology. He tries to turn out a student who can think on his own and can recognize the excitement in being biologically aware. Annually, he attempts to take his A.P. and Gifted Biology classes on a three-day camping experience.

Students Look Into The Business World

Business classes at Allen are becoming increasingly more popular every year. Courses for seniors that are taught in the business area include: Stenography, Secretarial Office Practice, and Typing II taught by Mrs. Michael. Clerical Office Practice is taught by Mrs. Lessig. Also, Mrs. Fine teaches Recordkeeping II. These three teachers all strive for the same goal - to prepare the students for entry-level positions in the offices, directly after graduation. Field trips are a part of Mrs. Lessig's and Mrs. Michael's courses. They travel to the PP&L's Word Processing Center. Mrs. Michael also entertains speakers from the Berkely Schools, Bradford Schools, and Jan Nagy Modeling and Fishing School, and also speakers from the Allentown Business School.

Students of the shorthand class display their matching sweatshirts.

Mrs. Michael instructs a student.

Mr. Kostura is instructing Typing I.

People In The News

1981 was a year of victory and tragedy. Ronald Reagan won the presidential election over Jimmy Carter and was inaugurated the 40th President of the United States on January 21, 1981. President Reagan is the first Republican candidate to take office since the resignation of Richard Nixon in 1975. During the first of his term, Reagan imposed several changes upon the country in an attempt to balance the national budget. Although President Reagan is not unanimously well liked, the majority of the country is satisfied with his leadership. Coinciding with the installment of a new president was the return of 52 Americans held hostage in Iran; it was a cause for national celebration. After 444 days in captivity, the hostages were released by the Iranian government and sent home to the United States. Although exploited by the media during the agonizing ordeal, the relatives of the hostages expressed deepest gratitude when their loved ones were returned. The 50 men and 2 women and their families shall always regard freedom as the most valuable human possession.

The Irish Republican Army led a fervent strike against the oppressive conditions in Belfast Maze prison, Ireland in March 1981. Protestant majority rule abolished all rights of the prisoners and subjected them to degrading conditions. Bobby Sands became the first of ten strikers who starved to death as a means of protest. Relatives finally persuaded doctors at Belfast Maze to administer intravenous feeding when a fasting striker became comatose, in hopes of preventing further deaths. After seven months, the strike was called off.

On March 28 Hershey Park arena echoed with chants of "We are Allen! We are Allen!" as exuberant fans cheered the 1981 Girls' Basketball team to a 53-40 PIAA AAA State Championship. The victory over Altoona was the ultimate climax of a momentous season. The Chicks, led by seniors Maura Hertzog, Sharon Westin, Robin Weiner, and Sue Trainer, sported a 29-2 record and constituted the finest girls' basketball team to graduate from Allen High School. Although the games are over, the memories of a championship season shall never vanish.

On March 30, 1981 a confused and troubled young man attempted the assassination of our country's president. John Hinkley, Jr. fired six shots from a .22 caliber revolver, wounding President Reagan, Washington Press Secretary James Brady, and Patrolman Thomas Delahanty. While the nation waited anxiously, doctors and surgeons worked quickly and efficiently to save the men's lives. The 69 year old president underwent surgery to remove a bullet from his lung. James Brady miraculously survived a gun shot which penetrated through his forehead and fragmented in his brain.

The 1981 Allen Chicks celebrate a state championship.

The most elated event of the year was the celebration of royal matrimony uniting Prince Charles of Wales and Lady Diana Spencer. England was richly adorned in the finest royal splendor for the joyous occasion. Over 750 million people around the world viewed the royal wedding which took place in St. Paul's

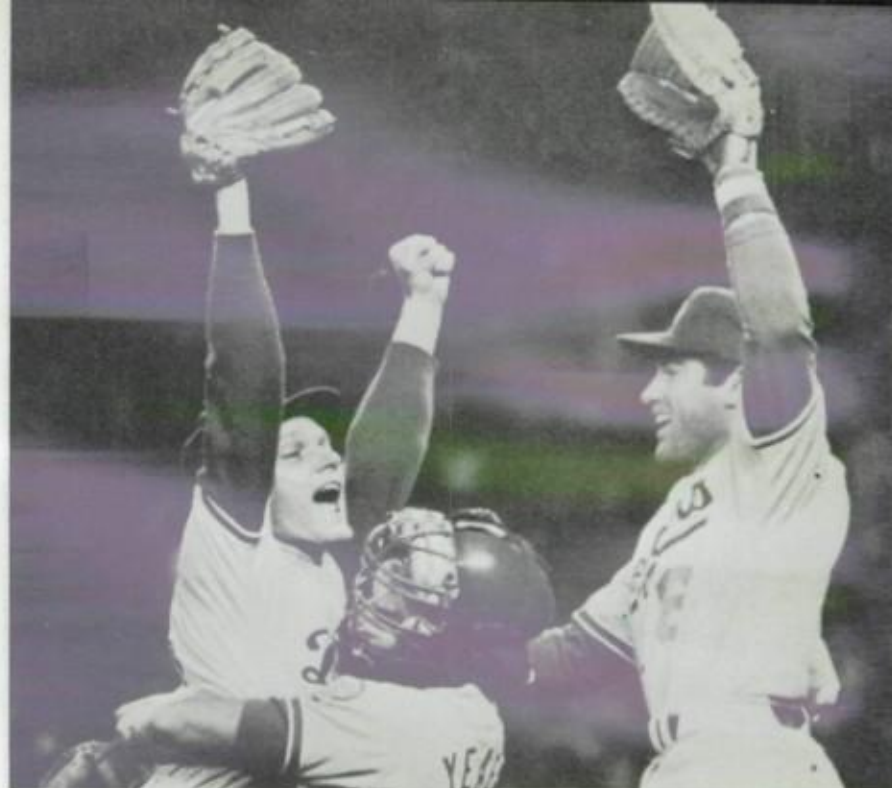

The peaceful aura generated by Pope John Paul II was ironically shattered by an explosion of angry gun fire. The crowd which had listened attentively to the words of the Pope shouted chaotically when the pontiff was suddenly shot down. On May 13, 1981, Mehmet Ali Agca, a twenty-three year old Turk, attempted the murder of Pope John Paul II. The Pope was hit in the hand and abdomen, and two women lay wounded. Before undergoing the operation which saved his life, the Pope raised the question which became an international inquiry: "Why did they do it?"

Cathedral in July.

Lady Diana was a picture of radiance in her flowing silk gown as Prince Charles escorted her from the cathedral. Immediately following the ceremony, the royal couple embarked upon their honeymoon where they spent two weeks in solitude upon the Mediterranean Sea.

In this age of mass transit, the airplane has become a vital form of transportation. Much of our country is dependent upon air travel. Therefore, when the air traffic controllers went on strike on August 3, the nation nearly came to a standstill. Robert Poli, president of the air-controllers union, called the strike when the government rejected their new contract. The striking air traffic controllers were fired and refused re-employment when the strike ended.

America: Baseball, hot dogs, and apple pie, but not in 1981. On June 12 the country's professional baseball players went on strike. The walk-out lasted 50 days and eliminated a major part of America's summer entertainment. When the season finally resumed, only the loyal baseball fans returned to the stadiums. The World Series was a classic bout between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the New York Yankees in which the Dodgers won their first title in sixteen years.

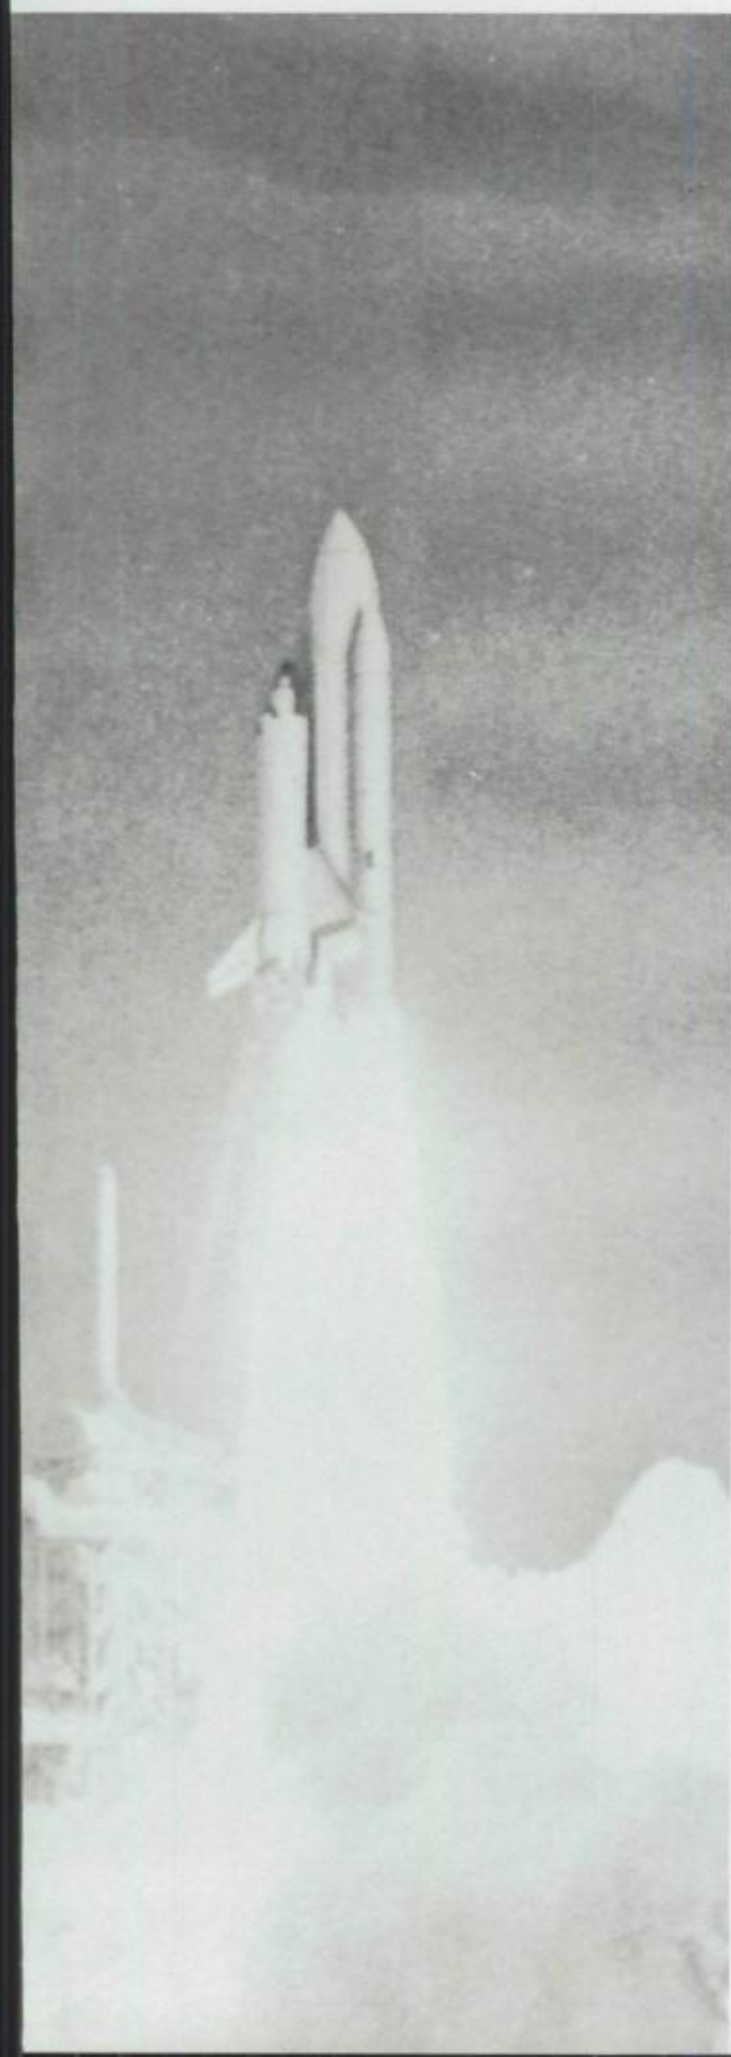

Man has proven himself an ambitious pioneer in conquest of space, the final frontier. The nation watched with pride and amazement as the world's first space shuttle, Columbia, blazed through the skies in April. Future generations shall see the shuttle as a means of positioning and maintaining satellites in space. After completing 36 orbits, Columbia plunged through the earth's atmosphere and made a flawless landing. In November, Columbia re-entered the realms of outer space, the first time a craft had ever been reused in space travel; however, due to mechanical complications the space shuttle was forced to curtail its journey. Millions of people viewed Columbia's touch down, cheering the feat of technological perfection and the thrill of a mission accomplished.

Although 1981 was plagued by tragedy and violence, the year ended with celebration. On December 28, the first American test-tube baby was born. Tiny Elizabeth Carr was conceived "in vitro" and born in natural childbirth. "In vitro" is a term describing a process of conception where fertilization takes place outside the woman's body. An egg is taken from the mother and fertilized by the father's sperm, allowing the woman to conceive and carry a child. "In vitro" conception offers young couples an opportunity to raise children when it otherwise would not have been possible.

A green ribbon became a national symbol in 1981, a symbol commemorating the tragic deaths of black youths in Atlanta, Georgia. Citizens lived in fear of "The Man" who lured children away from their homes and murdered them. Twenty-eight children were brutally killed by drowning or strangulation before the ordeal ended. After months of mysterious disappearances and recovered corpses, a man was taken into custody and the murders of innocent youth ended.

One of the most violent events of the year was the assassination of Egypt's leader, Anwar Sadat. Spectators had gathered to watch a military parade when the tragic shooting occurred. Four muslim fanatics jumped from a truck, bombarding innocent people with a barrage of machine gunfire and grenades. When the ordeal was over, people lay dead and others wounded. Anwar Sadat will be remembered as a leader who lived in hope of attaining international peace.

In an era of debate over women's liberation, the United States government has taken a step upward for equal rights. In the fall of 1981, President Ronald Reagan appointed Sandra Day O'Connor the first Supreme Court Justice in the history of our country. Ms. O'Connor was rightfully chosen upon her merits and qualifications, breaking the trend of male domination in the United States government.

Video Game Craze

Pac Man, one of the most popular games, even inspired a song.

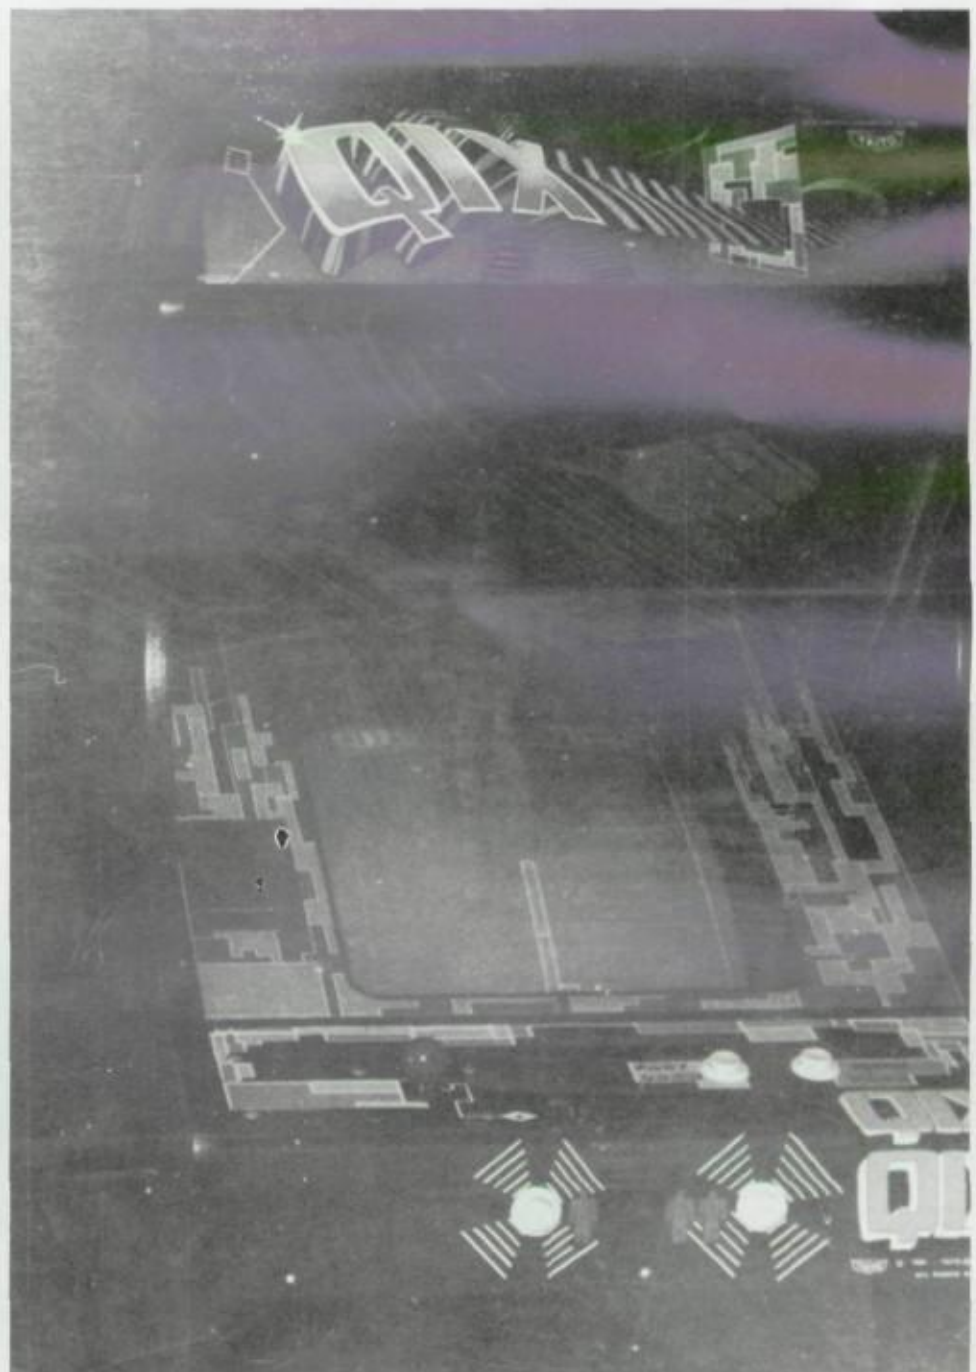

Tempest tests one's skill in the galaxy.

Carol Sargent displays her driving ability at one of many driving video games.

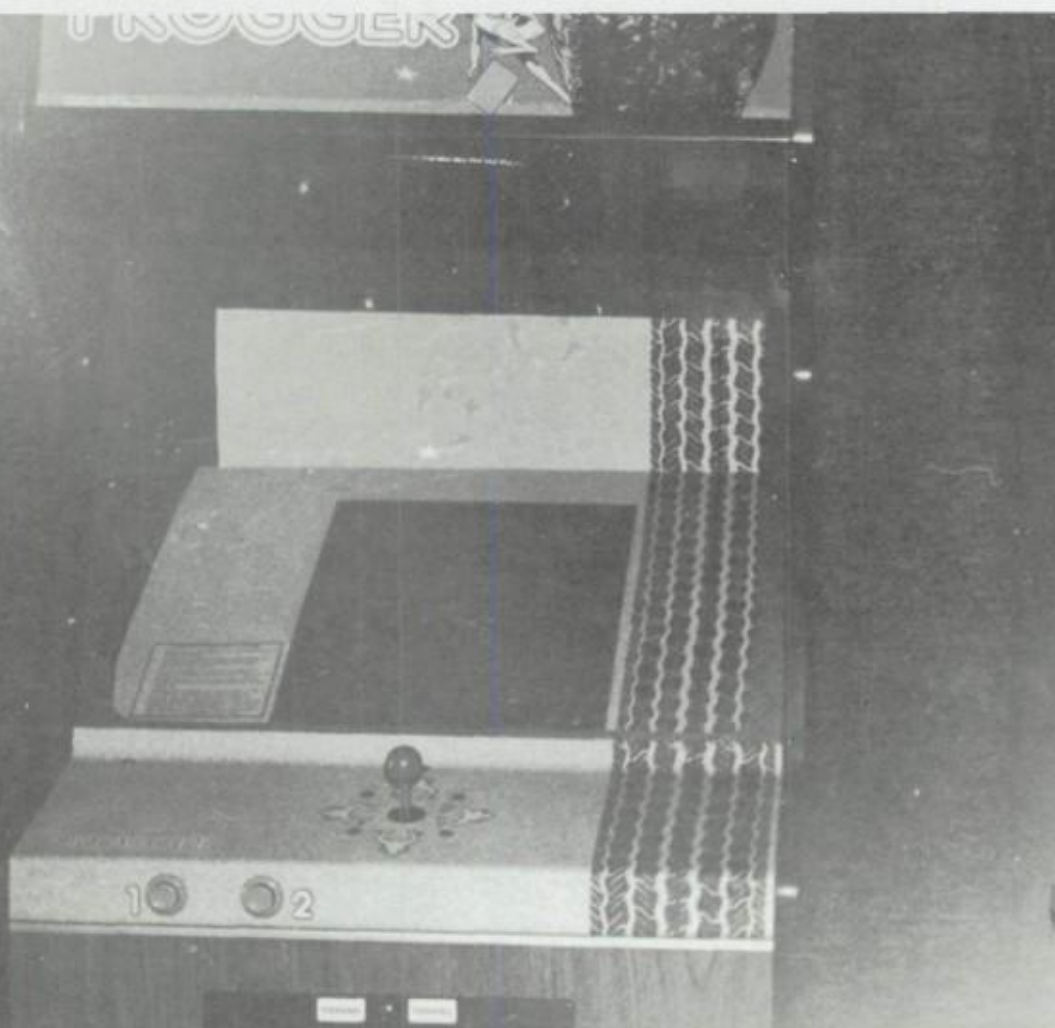

Centipedes displays five creatures to be destroyed.

The object of Qix is to cover 75% of the screen while avoiding the sparks.

Missing the car is the objective of the game Frogger.

Video mania is producing new waves of multimillion dollar marketing and profit-making. Pac Man, Space Invaders, Break Away, and Asteroids, are among the multitude of cartridges and arcade games offered to the public. During the holiday these home entertainment outfits sold all over the country. Arcades are popping up everywhere consuming more quarters than possibly imagined! This new concept has outmoded the pinball era as its counterpart. Battles and championship matches have offered prizes and monies for the masters of the art.

The Twilight Zone a commercial arcade (the scene of our photographs) is lined with wall to wall beeps, bangs, and blips, enough to challenge anyone's ability. The Video game revolution has altered recreation and the word fun forever.

On the evening of January 27, the William Allen High School Physical Education Complex drew quite a crowd of student body, faculty, and parents. This group of people turned out to be entertained by the WKAP Killers vs. the Varsity "A," in a basketball game benefitting the Varsity "A" club. As expected, the Varsity "A" team came out the winner. At half-time the audience was entertained by an ice-cream eating contest. Vince Osso was expected to come out the champion, but a last-minute entry, Clem DeMotto, won with a time of one minute and twenty seconds.

Seniors anxiously awaited graduation and with it came many exciting and outstanding moments. As students leave Allen for the last time, they'll take with them these cherished moments that will last a lifetime.

Administrators Adapt To Work Increase

The arrival of the Freshman Class to Allen has caused an increase of work for the three assistant administrators. The Freshman Class was evenly distributed among Mr. Ray Erb, Jr., Mr. Robert Brown, and Mr. Patrick Howlett. Along with that responsibility, each of the administrators supervises the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes, respectively.

Although these men are notorious for their disciplinary actions, they are also responsible for the organization of student schedules and class activities. If it were not for the assistant administrators, Allen High School could not function efficiently. Their dedication and hard work are displayed throughout all activities that take place during the school year.

Both Allen and Dieruff have access to a twelve-car simulator equipped with an extensive film library. The department also has acquired four cars having dual breaks. Guest speakers visiting the classroom on a regular basis enhance everyday learning.

Counseling

This year a new counselor, Michael Maron, has been added to the counseling staff at Allen High School. The counselors provide information for seniors on college applications, financial aid, scholarships, and many other facets of college. Juniors, sophomores, and freshmen are given assistance in choosing specific careers and colleges. The concerned counselors also help the student body to make wise decisions in selecting classes at Allen. They contribute time and effort in helping students to overcome any dilemmas which may occur throughout the school year.

Secretaries

The secretaries of Allen High School are an important part in the functioning of a normal school day. The efficient secretaries complete various types of jobs throughout the day. The secretaries in the main office assist Dr. McHugh, members of the faculty, students, and visitors. In the counseling office secretaries perform many tasks for the counselors, such as preparing transcripts and keeping records straight. Secretaries in the attendance offices compile attendance lists and carry out other functions which are needed for the principal to maintain control. The secretary in the athletic office provides services which contribute to the effective maintenance of the school.

Throughout the school year the health suite gives a complete physical examination to all students. The dental suite also gives dental examinations to those students whose records are not up to date.

Cafeteria Staff

The Cafeteria Staff, supervised by Edith Torok, is very essential to a school day. They prepare well-balanced meals to both students and faculty. Their job also includes keeping the school cafeteria, the cafeteria annex, the student center, and the faculty cafeteria well managed and clean. Their smiling faces and friendly personalities add to the pleasant atmosphere of the Allen cafeterias. Their jobs are not easy tasks; however, each one is always done very well.

They're a&b believably good!

- Try the hearty, robust flavor of A&B Patio meats—franks, ring bologna, kielbasa, smoked sausage, and more.
- Or try the delicious down-home flavor and aroma of A&B Smokehouse family ham, chef ham, ham slice or slab bacon.
- Plus, A&B meats—sliced bacon, tavern hams, beer bologna, country scrapple, German bologna, pork sausage and much more—continue to be Lehigh Valley favorites.

She began her acting career as Amaryllis in the Broadway play "Music Man" which featured Dick VanDyke. Other acting experiences include appearances in "Search for Tomorrow". She has made local appearances at Dinner Theatre and Civic Little Theatre. This talented young girl enjoys singing, gymnastics, swimming, and horseback riding.

Freshmen Boys And Girls

The Girls' Freshmen Basketball team, under the supervision of Anne Wenninger, started its inaugural season in fine style. The team was lead in scoring by Phyllis Schneck with 198 points and in rebounding by Martha Nagy. Other starters included Mary Mangle, Wendy Mory, Terri Adams, and Carole Sessoms.

Frosh Team Has Tough Season

The Freshmen Wrestling team, coached by Mr. Dick Kressler, had a tough season but managed to accomplish a record of 3 and 9. Though plagued by forfeits at five weight classes, the team showed that they had the stamina to pull through in tough situations.

Leading the team with 7 pins and 53 team points was 93 pounder Marty Diamond. He also racked up the East Penn Conference Championship along with 88 pounder Gary Zimmerman. Another outstanding freshman was Bill "Tiger" Taylor.

Staff Pays Tribute To Advisers And Photography Editors

Co-adviser Mr. Les Kish relaxes as he represents Comus at an ice cream eating contest.

Photography editor Bill Hansell displays photogenic qualities.

Kristi Langslet, an efficient photographer, was a great asset to the Comus staff.

This year's Comus staff was very fortunate to have a very talented photography section headed by Mr. Les Kish and photography editors Bill Hansell and Robert Felkay. Throughout the year they faithfully catered to us when we needed pictures immediately to make our rapidly approaching deadlines. We would also especially like to thank Kristi Langslet for developing countless amounts of film on her own time. Finally, the Comus staff would like to salute Mrs. Jackie Mory for all of her hard work and support she gave to us to give us a fine yearbook to remember our high school years.

Acknowledgements

Once again the combined efforts of many bring you the Comus, a collection of memories to keep and treasure. The entire Comus staff wishes to thank and acknowledge those people who helped to make this book something special. Mr. Hanna, Tony DeFiore, and everyone who participated in and organized the Dance Marathon which aided us financially. Mr. Rourke and SGA for organizing a magazine sale to help get us out of debt. A tremendous thanks to the business community of the Lehigh Valley for without their support, we couldn't produce such a fine yearbook. Special thanks to C.E. Roth for the use of their tuxedos, and Holiday-Rent-A-Car for their limousine. Mr. Henry Wright for supplying uniforms for pictures on short notice. Milo Sowards for all the times we interrupted him and for all the extra things he was willing to do for us. Anita Williams and the Athletic Office for supplying us with statistics and other needed information. Mrs. Thomas for once again supporting us with an ad for her classes. Mr. Merv Miller for always being there if we needed a ride anywhere. Dr. McHugh for being supportive of all our efforts. Mr. Erb for graciously taking care of cut slips and call blanks. Bill Hansell and Robert Felkay for taking all those pictures we needed IMMEDIATELY. Mike Jacobs for his help and sharing his own pictures with us. A very special thank you to Debbie Dursi for sharing with us her time and many talents. Mrs. Finizzi and the Canary staff for making our deadlines a little more bearable. Sandi Wilt, Miriam Strawbridge, and Carolyn Smith for doing everything and anything they could possibly do for us. Wendy Souders and Sandi Moran for taking messages for us and lending the use of their files. Carl Peterson for being an extraordinarily helpful mediator. Special thanks to Mr. Jack Rau and Mr. Ed Schrey for spending their own time taking pictures no one else could take. A special thank you also to Mrs. Jack Rau and Cindy Schrey along with their husbands for devoting an entire weekend to the Freshmen section of this book. We would also like to thank all those teachers who were inconvenienced while we met our deadlines.

Amid the massive confusion that always seemed to be present, two wonderful people tried, sometimes to no avail, to make some sense and order of things. Both gave tremendous amounts of their own time; long evenings spent correcting layouts, printing pictures and even sacrificed some class time. Thank you Mrs. Jackie Mory for your endless patience with our never-ending questions, our noise while you were trying to teach class, our failure to meet deadlines, and thank you for receiving the brunt of criticisms directed toward us. But mostly, thank you for always being there when we needed you, you're a forever friend and we'll never forget your efforts. And thank you Mr. Kish, for spending endless time in the darkroom and for putting up with our yelling and criticisms. You always seemed to come through with the pictures we needed.

The entire Comus staff hopes you enjoy reading this publication of our yearbook. It was a pleasure and an honor to record your year for you.

ALMA MATER

All hail our Alma Mater dear,
Our voice of praise and glory hear
To whom all reverence we bear,
Of you forgetful we'll be ne'er.
We shall forever for you yearn
And cherish all that we may learn
Through future days of life,
'Mid joy and strife;
True may we stand, both to you
And Canary and Blue.

Throughout the land of you we'll sing,
Loud will our praises ever ring,
Of days that have passed by,
Fond memories of dear old high.
Oh, Alma Mater, hear our praise;
To you all honor we do raise,
Through future days of life,
'Mid joy and strife;
True may we stand, both to you
And Canary and Blue.

Farewells

The greatest memories you will share in the future will be high school memories. I hope you enjoyed your high school days and I hope your memories will be happy ones.

As you say farewell to Allen High, please remember that I, too, have memories of you. Together we shared great times and together we will share great memories. God bless you.

Dr. John F. McHugh

It has been a pleasure working with the Senior Class of 1982 for the past three years. I believe the graduating students will meet with great success after leaving Allen High School. I want to thank all seniors for their cooperation and diligence in the many class activities which were held. I extend to the Senior Class of 1982 my best wishes for a rewarding and happy future.

Dr. John F. McHugh, Principal

Ed Hanna, Class Adviser

Ray Erb, Assistant Principal

When you entered Allen High School in 1979, I was assigned to your class as your Assistant Principal. I have remained with the class of '82 as it progressed to graduation day. My associations with each of you have been brought about by varying circumstances. Discipline or attendance matters, classroom activities, and your participation in numerous class activities and school functions have brought us together. In general, my remembrance of you is a positive one. I hope that the instruction you have received here has helped to prepare you for the future. As a class, you have added to the prestige of our school.

As you leave Allen High School and begin a journey down paths leading to the goals you have set for yourselves, I wish you well. It has been my pleasure to work with you. May success and good health be yours in the years ahead.
